

RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOVEMBER 11; MISSION TOLD IN STATEMENT

Primarily the American Red Cross as an organization was put on a war basis and its funds were raised to help and to comfort the American soldier and sailor but it was soon discovered by the Red Cross workers overseas that the best way to appeal to the allied soldiers and help them maintain their fighting qualities was home in this way they not only gained a reputation as being able to bind up the wounds in battle, but the bleeding hearts of humanity as well, it was here it gained the name "The Greatest Mother in the World."

After the Armistice was signed and the French people were returning to what had been their homes to find them destroyed, it was here that the Red Cross came to perform its next work for the people of France. Blankets, clothing and food were furnished, the sick were cared for, but the thing that helped the people most was the spirit in which aid was given and the inspiration that was kept up their morale and brought them back to where they were a self supporting people.

Paderewski said in the early days of Poland's independence "Poland is faced with provocation but she can worry through. If we can have one Red Cross unit to represent the spirit of America it will do more for the future than shiploads of material aid."

We showed the people across the sea that the Red Cross was composed of men and women seeking the opportunity to serve, that they were living the Golden Rule and had no purpose to further or no axe to grind and if we could only realize it this is still the mission of the Red Cross at home and abroad, the mission of service.

The work of the Red Cross now is against ignorance and disease. In the United States today there are three million people sick of physical diseases.

During the time we were engaged in the world war for every American soldier killed in battle or died from wounds, ten babies under one year of age died in the United States. Ten future Americans died for every present American who gave his life for their future. Sixty-five per cent of these infant deaths were preventable, being the result of ignorance and carelessness. This multitude of children died because half of our people do not know the first principles of sanitation and hygiene; because half of the mothers do not know how to give proper care to their children.

People have an idea that because God takes care of human life that their whole duty is to care for their property, so millions of dollars have been spent to war against animal diseases and bugs, worms and weevils that destroy crops, yet including our pure food and drug regulations very little has been done to protect human life. We attribute a great deal of this to the superstition that has long remained with people that sickness is a visitation of Divine Providence.

People have been slow to realize that habits, sins and faults of our lives are the source of most of our troubles. Dirty water, contaminated food, ill ventilated rooms, and death dealing garbage-borne fly. It is these and not the hand of a loving God that scatters disease and death. It has been said that public health is purchasable, that with the present knowledge of disease that a city can to a great extent establish its own health rate.

When the war was over the Red Cross having seen the need for Public Health Nurses and teaching, began to seek public health nurses and to provide ways for them to be trained. The duties of public health nurses are two-fold to prevent disease and care for the sick. She is not simply the nurse but the guide and instructor of the women who are the home makers of the world; it is her job to suggest methods of betterment to lay the foundation for sanitary house keeping, for better babies—more normal children and better health for all—a stronger generation for tomorrow than ours has been today. It is her work to inspect school children, so that weak eyes, healthy teeth and other physical defects may be discovered and removed.

HEARRELL VISITS AUSTIN ON STREET PAVING PROJECT

Mayor U. S. Hearrell has just returned from a trip to Austin and to Llano where he has been in connection with the street paving plans of the city recently proposed.

Mr. Hearrell went to Austin to look into matters pertaining to the paving project and while there went with engineers to Llano to inspect street and road material, and reports favorably. The Mayor and the council plan to give Cameron paved streets.

Recently Mayor Hearrell went to Austin and purchased motor equipment from the United States government to be used in the city and effected a great saving and at the same time improving the facilities of the city for handling street work and waste.

He also purchased motorcycles which he declares may be used by the fire department and for motorcycle police in keeping down speeding.

ness and life long handicaps. It is her work to teach mothers and girls home hygiene and care for the sick. There is hardly a girl or woman who is not at some time called upon to care for the sick in their own home and such practical instructions as are offered by the Red Cross may be the means of checking epidemics and bringing health to the family.

Last year we spent seven million dollars to protect farmers against the pink boll worm during the same time we spent less than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to prevent avoidable loss of mothers and babies. Through education and training of the mother in the care of herself and her child we have the strongest influence for combating mortality. No more altruistic far reaching labor can be conceived of than teaching the women who build the world that to be.

Monthly report of Milam County Nursing Service for September:

September 1 to 8, enrollment of Childs Health Conference. There were 240 children between the ages of 6 months and 6 years enrolled by house to house canvass. From the 8th to the 11th the conference was held and 166 children were examined, weighed, measured and advised as to treatment, diet and other things. And many of these children are now under treatment for defects that were at that time found. Among these are two children who are being treated for trachoma.

September 12 to 16 follow-up visits were made to these homes and one of the cases of trachoma was accompanied to the doctor.

September 16 to 30 school work was begun at this point, 649 children were inspected for visible defects, 92 cases of trachoma were found and were diagnosed by different physicians, these are all getting proper treatment.

Two children were fitted with glasses, and a number of others will get glasses fitted soon. 181 children were found to have defective teeth, 237 who have enlarged tonsils and probably adenoids. In connection with the school work 36 home visits were made and 11 children accompanied to their physicians.

WILSON PLEADING FOR LEAGUE

DEMOCRATS TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN WITH BIG DRIVE IN COUNTY

TOM CONNOLLY TO SPEAK HERE
TODAY. LOCAL SPEAKERS
ASSIGNED FOR WEEK END

The Democrats in Milam county will close the campaign with a vigorous speech making program. The first of these speeches on the windup of the campaign will be delivered in the district court room tonight by Congressman Tom Connolly of Marlin. Mr. Connolly has been assigned to speak here by the State Democratic committee and his address will be in defense of the Democratic ticket, local, state and national. Mr. Connolly is a good speaker and campaigner and he will give the people some things to reflect upon bearing on the campaign.

Congressman Connolly will be introduced by Hon. O. L. Kidd, prominent Democrat and local attorney. This announcement is made today by Jeff T. Kemp, prominent Democrat.

District Judge John Watson, and E. A. Camp of Rockdale will speak in Thorndale the latter part of the week in the interest of the Democratic ticket.

District Attorney Jack Lewis and W. W. Chambers, attorney and Democrat, will speak at Marlow on Friday night in the interest of the ticket.

In the race for local offices six of the county officials are opposed by American Party candidates. The candidates having opposition are:

Judge W. G. Gillis, Will T. Yates, county clerk, W. A. Bonds, county tax collector; Miss Lelia Woolley, tax assessor; J. N. Butts, commissioner; Henry Reaves, commissioner.

These officials have served the people of the county in a credible way and deserve re-election and this appeal is made in defense of their excellent records as public officials and as nominees of the Democratic party in Milam county. All of the nominees should be supported but we mention these as having opposition in the race.

Judge Yates is head of the County Court deserves re-election on his splendid record. He is a man of conviction and fearless in the cause he believes to be right. He has performed his duties as the judge and showing he has made with the commissioners court deserves the unqualified support of the voters.

Will T. Yates as county clerk has been nominated for the second term. His services have been eminently satisfactory and he deserves the support of the people.

W. A. Bonds as tax collector has a record to defy criticism. He has been at the head of this office long enough to handle the work efficiently and his re-election is necessary to the efficient administration of tax problems in the county. He is a Democrat and deserves the support of the Democratic voters.

Miss Lelia Woolley has just been nominated for her second term as tax assessor. Her record in this office has called the admiration of all officials and the people of the county. Democratic precedent as well as interest in the efficient management of the office demand her election.

Henry Reaves, commissioner, and J. H. Butts, commissioner, and O. K. Phillips, commissioner, deserve re-election at the hands of the Democrats. They are good business men and it is due them to recognize in this way the service they have given in reducing the bonded indebtedness and keeping up the business of the county in time with the progress of the age.

FIRST HOG SHOW NOVEMBER 24th

Milam County's First Annual Hog and Poultry Show and Exhibit will be held Wednesday, November 24th.

This was announced at the meeting of the Commercial Club Tuesday night following the report of Chairman W. M. Cobb in charge of the plans of the show. Mr. Cobb reported that he had secured the large stable pany as the site for the show.

Cash premiums are to be offered for the best showings made. The show will stimulate greater interest in hog and poultry raising in the county and

MOTION TABLED AFTER LENGTHY DISCUSSION AND OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED PLAN.

Mayor U. S. Hearrell placed his street paving plans before the commercial club Tuesday night, outlining in detail the program and asking for a committee to circulate a petition to order an election so that the people may authorize the levy of tax on property owners sufficient to carry out the project.

The discussion provoked expressions from conflicting opinions and the motion made by Mayor Hearrell for the appointment of the committee was tabled until the next meeting. It is expected that a large crowd will be out at the next meeting which will be held on Friday night of next week owing to the change in the meeting dates. This is the most important improvement project in years in Cameron and deserves to succeed according to the needs of the streets of our progressive city.

The meeting was a membership meeting. Dr. Tom Denson, chairman of the civic improvement committee, reported plans worked out for a number of projects. Giles Avriett, chairman of the good roads meeting, reported that bids were ready to be opened on the Buckholts road. This will connect the two Meridian highways and will carry a liberal federal appropriation if the work is under construction by next June.

Dr. James Watson, reported all committees appointed and at work on the Armistice Day celebration plans.

William Rogers was appointed to go to Ellis County to investigate the Talla cotton seed which is reported to produce cotton to sell from 6 to 8 cents per pound more than the regular staple produced here. Mr. Rogers reported that he and A. H. Baskin had visited Waxahachie and saw the results of marketing of the cotton. It is said that the seed will sell at $4 a bushel in car shipments.

AUDITORIUM THEATER NOW IN OPERATION

GOOD PROGRAMS AND IS PLEASING ITS PATRONS.

The Auditorium Theatre now in operation in Cameron is announcing its programs one week in advance and since its opening has staged splendid programs and pleased its patrons.

The theatre is modern in every way and is being operated by the Texas Photoplay Association. It is the policy of the management to show first class plays and to charge nominal admission at all times. The pipe organ has not yet reached Cameron.

Mr. Edward Emerline of Colhan, Colorado, arrived in Cameron this week and will make this his home in the future. We welcome this industrious young man to Cameron.

WORK BEGUN ON METHODIST CHURCH

ARCHITECT AND CONSTRUCTION MAN HERE MONDAY
LOOKING AFTER DETAILS

P. G. Silber of San Antonio, architect, and Hoke Johnson, of Waco, building contractor, were in Cameron Monday to begin the construction of the new building for the Methodist church. Rainy weather delayed the start Monday but workmen are now busy arranging materials and will begin immediately to lay the foundation for this new building.

The church will cost approximately $100,000 and will be one of the most modern in the state when completed. Worship will be had in the American Legion hall while the old church is being torn down. Work of razing the old building has not begun and announcement will be made in time to insure change in services.

STRICKEN PRESIDENT TELLS REPUBLICANS HEART OF WORLD BLEDS FOR PACT.

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Wilson, speaking to a group of pro-League Republicans today at the White House, declared that "the so-called Americanism which we hear so much prating about now is spurious and invented for party purposes only."

Appealing for the completion of the "great moral achievement" which he said the war represented, the President asserted that "the war will have been fought in vain and our immense sacrifices thrown away unless we complete the work we then began."

"There is only one way to assure the world of peace," the President declared, "and that is by making it so dangerous to break the peace that no other nation will have the audacity to attempt it."

The President warned his hearers not to be deceived into supposing that imperialistic schemes ended with the defeat of Germany or "that Germany is the only nation that entertained such schemes or was moved by sinister ambitions to attack the very structure of civilization."

"There are other nations," said the President, "which are likely to be powerfully moved or are already moved by commercial jealousy, by the desire to dominate and to have their own way in politics and in enterprises and it is necessary to check them and to apprise them that the world will be united against them as it was against Germany if they attempt to similar action."

"Deeply Touched." In a formal statement issued after they left the White House, members of the delegation said they were very deeply touched by the physical appearance of the President, who received them sitting and plainly showed the effects of his long strain which he has been carrying."

"He read from a manuscript his reply to the address of the deputation," the statement continued, "and was greatly moved as he did so. More than once his voice choked, especially when he referred to the soldier boys and the mothers of those who had fallen in battle."

"It was evident that he was voicing the profoundest emotions of his heart," the delegation added. "The whole occasion was unexpressedly solemn and tender."

Condition Tragic. "It was evident that the President's intellectual powers were in no way impaired," the statement continued, but the deputation felt that it was nothing less than tragic that the great President of the United States should have been brought to such a stricken physical condition as the result of his indefatigable labor for his country and for humanity."

The delegation said "they felt that this might be the President's appeal to the conscience of his countrymen in the supreme moral decision that they are called upon to make."

HEFLEY THEATER IS NEAR COMPLETION

WILL BE MODERN PLAY HOUSE WITH MODERN EQUIPMENT AND BEST PICTURES.

Progress on the Hefley Theatre, now under construction in the W. T. Hefley Building adjoining the Palace of Sweets, has been rapid and it is hoped by Manager Sam Hefley that the new play house will be in operation by the first of the month.

The interior has been decorated and the seating arranged on a decline looking toward the stage as is the plan in the best theatres of the country, with wall fans, and an ideal cooling and heating system and is fireproof. The gallery will seat a very large number of people. The best machines have been installed.

Mr. Hefley plans to install a pipe organ and to give the best possible music.

We are glad to report the little boy of Mr. Stearns who lives near Sharpe improving fast following an operation to remove tonsils and adenoids, performed by Dr. C. B. Taylor.

A STORY

(©, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Say, I'd be willing to wager that you couldn't earn one hundred dollars in one month, Ned Towne. You know that you have never had to do anything but call on your dad for cash, and that is some different proposition from earning it. I am ready to bet a cool thousand that you can't do it; are you game?"

The speaker blew a cloud of smoke into the air and smiled as he had a mental picture of the fashionable Ned Towne in overalls earning the one hundred dollars.

"I say, Grant, do you really mean that?" and Ned rose from his easy chair and perched on the end of the table.

"Bet your life I mean it; want to take me on it?"

"I know I have never earned a cent in all my life, but dad didn't want me to work; but I'll take you and I'll show you that I can earn it."

The other half-dozen young men seated in the clubroom gathered around and all the details were arranged. The month began the next morning, and Ned, eager to show the fellows what stuff he was made of, rose early. He hadn't the least idea what he could do and for the first time in his life he scanned the want ads in the morning paper. One after the other he discarded them, realizing just how little he was fitted to do. But like an oasis there was one thing that he knew he could do.

Bolting the rest of his breakfast he rushed out of the house and was soon in the next city. Once there he had no difficulty in securing the position. For, despite the fact that the man who had advertised for an instructor to teach his two daughters to ride horseback, was one of the "new rich," he knew breeding when he met it.

"Huh, what a cinch; guess I can get a job? I'll say I can." And Ned patted the sleek side of the splendid horse that was to be his in his new position.

According to the arrangements no one was to know what he was doing to earn the money, and although he missed the many hours of ease he had been having every day he was enjoying himself greatly. The two girls were good-looking, wholesome young ladies and learned to ride with ease and grace.

One morning, after he had held his position for three weeks, the elder of the girls wanted to ride downtown, through the crowded streets, just for the excitement, and of course Ned was to ride with her. Now it chanced that very morning that Ned's fiancée had asked him to ride in her new car, and on the plea of important work for his father, he had excused himself.

Fate, ever busy, arranged in a crowded street of the city a motor with a charming young lady at the wheel and almost beside it a fine-looking couple on horseback, who chanced to be laughing over the antics of a hurdy-gurdy monkey. Yes, that is right: Ned, Miss Sefton and his fiancée. Happily unconscious of any complications, Ned was stricken dumb when he found himself looking into the troubled blue eyes of the girl he loved.

Coralie James returned his ring with a short note that terminated the engagement, and all his efforts to see her were unavailing. At the end of the month he returned to the club with the hundred dollars he had earned, and amid the cheers of his friends he collected his thousand dollars.

And Fate, still busy, arranged a dance where both Ned and Coralie were sure to go. All the evening Ned watched for a chance to approach Coralie to explain, but she avoided him. About midnight a dozen couples gathered on the veranda and someone suggested that Ned, ever famous as a good story teller, tell a story. A happy thought struck him: he would tell his own story of the past month and thus be telling a story and explaining to Coralie at the same time. A nasty glance told him that none of the club fellows was in the crowd, so, seating himself so that he could see Coralie he told his story, adding his explanation to her thus:

"And the young fellow did not tell his fiancée, for she did not approve of betting, and of course he had to tell her something about that morning, and of course she couldn't understand," and then, like all good story tellers, he had them reconciled and happy ever after.

After the applause the crowd returned to their dancing and Ned asked Coralie to dance. When she nodded her "yes" he led her, not in the dance, but to a secluded part of the veranda.

"Ned, dear, forgive me."

"Sweetheart, it is you who must forgive me," he whispered. "Tell me that I am forgiven, Coralie."

"Oh, my Ned, of course you are forgiven, and if you must bet then confine your bets to me. I'll wager two neckties that you don't dare kiss me in this light."

"Done—and you lose." And he kissed her not once but many times, and by the expression on Coralie's face she was glad that she lost.

Dangerous Reading.

"I say, Mirandy, that gal of ours is gittin' too much knowin' in her readin'." Do you know what kind of books she's bringin' home?"

"Law sakes, Jake, she only reads what her teacher tells her to."

"Then that woman ought to be ashamed of herself to let the gal learn all about them forr'n ways. Why, that there book was called 'Wimmin of the French Saloons.'"

REV. J. L. TAYLOR
INJURED BY AUTOFATHER OF DR. G. B. TAYLOR IS HURT IN TEMPLE ACCIDENT
SUNDAY.

Temple, Texas, Oct. 24.—Rev. J. L. Taylor, who resides on Freeman Heights Sunday night about nine o'clock was run down by a car near the west approach of the Adams avenue viaduct and painfully injured. The driver of the car picked him up and carried him to the residence of his daughter, Mrs. H. O. Honeycutt, 1304 West Adams avenue, where he was placed in bed and a physician summoned. Injury to the side was inflicted, but how serious will require time to develop. Mrs. Honeycutt stated last night that the driver of the car expressed regret over the accident, and promised to call yesterday to ascertain the consequences of the mishap, but had not appeared at a late hour last night. Dr. G. B. Taylor of Cameron, son of the victim, was summoned and arrived yesterday. Rev. Taylor is 81 years of age and has resided in Temple for many years.

NEW ELECTION LAW
SEEKS TO AMEND ACT PREVIOUSLY REPEALED.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 25.—Absentee voting in the general election on November 2nd is not authorized by law, that privilege being extended only in primary elections, according to Marshall Hicks, Democratic leader and attorney of San Antonio. Mr. Hicks gave this opinion today after an investigation of the statute, made with a view to ascertaining how he should cast his ballot before leaving the State to be absent on election day.

Mr. Hicks declared that further investigation had convinced him that the entire election law passed by the recent called session is void. This arises from the fact, he said, that the legislature in passing the new law presumed to amend Art. 2939, Revised Statutes, when in fact, that article had previously been repealed by the act of May 26, 1917. The effect of the action of the special session, he said, is to hold such an act ineffective.

Mr. Hicks expresses the opinion that there is no provision of law as to qualifications of voters other than the Texas Constitution as changed by the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment. This view, as well as the views regarding the validity of the election law and the scope of the absentee voting law, is concurred in by J. W. Hale, secretary to the State Democratic Executive Committee, and other leading Democrats here.

ARTICLE TEN

This is the terrible Article 10 of the league covenant, which the Republicans are using as a bogey man to frighten American voters. Notice that it relates only to EXTERNAL aggression. Such aggression, that is, as Germany committed against Belgium. It does not pledge the nations to preserve territorial integrity to any government against any constituent part. It does not guarantee British territorial integrity in Ireland, for example. But if Ireland became an independent nation and a member of the league, it would preserve its territorial integrity against all outside aggressors. Notice also that the council shall ADVISE upon action to be taken. No nation is under obligation to act upon that advice. Each nation is free to accept it or reject it as it believes advisable and right. Even if the council should advise military action, it could not order a single man of a single nation into the field. Finally it should be noticed that there is no provision for action by majority vote in the case, which means that unanimous agreement would be necessary for the council to give the advice. Article 5 of the covenant provides that "except where otherwise expressly provided in this covenant, or by the terms of this treaty, decisions at any meeting of the assembly or of the council shall require the agreement of all the members of the league represented at the meeting." The United States would be a permanent member of the council. We would have an absolute veto on any advice proposed.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Fordson
Farm Tractor

More than 100,000 Fordson tractors have been sold to farmers in the United States. They are helping those farmers do more and better work in less time and at less cost. North, East, South West—everywhere the Fordson has proven itself a money-maker and a real necessity to the farmer. Besides it is helping mightily to solve the labor problem.

These one hundred thousand and more practical farmers have affirmed the economy—the exceptionally low fuel and operating cost—of the Fordson; its time and labor-saving qualities and its ability to increase production. The Fordson was built to be the most economical tractor; it is compact and devoid of excessive weight. And it is built of the same strong iron and steel as is the Ford car.

Winter or bad weather does not hinder the Fordson's activities. Day or night—twenty-four hours a day if you choose—you can utilize the Fordson.

Only so many Fordsons are allotted this territory. Orders are being filled in sequence—first come first served. Let us have yours now.

There's a practical use for the Fordson every day of the year. Come in and have a tractor talk. Give us the chance to make a demonstration on your own farm.

WHEN you buy eggs—you judge their value by freshness and the "dozen." When you buy silk you figure its worth by feel—beauty and the "yard." But—how do you arrive at the value of baking powder? You can't tell by appearances—by weight—bulk doesn't mean quality. There's only one way—and that is an oven test. By that test—Calumet always proves itself the best.

Never Fails - Never permits waste of baking materials

CALUMET
BAKING POWDER

It is the most economical of all leaveners. Its price is moderate—you save when you buy it.

It has more than the ordinary leavening strength—you use less and save when you use it.

It never fails. There is no loss of baking ingredients.

So, don't guess at Baking Powder value any longer. Measure it by results.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

FORD EMPLOYEES GET DIVIDENDS

WORKERS APPLY FOR $6,200,000
TIFICATES.

The Board of Directors of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, recently announced that the first semi-annual payment on Ford Investment Certificates would be eight per cent, three per cent guaranteed interest plus a five per cent bonus. This is at the rate of sixteen per cent a year.

In conjunction with the Ford Investment plan, the Ford Motor Company pays employees a yearly cash bonus which is based on the number of years they have been with the company and the amount of wages they receive. This bonus may be applied toward the purchase of investment certificates which are issued in $100, $500 and $1000 denominations. Certificates also may be purchased on the partial payment plan. They may be cashed for full value plus interest at any time, although the company, withholds the right to require thirty days' notice in writing of an employee's intent to demand payment.

The Ford Investment Plan provides for employees to save their money, and besides it offers them an opportunity to share more largely in the profits of the company. That the plan is a success is indicated by the fact that approximately thirty per cent of all Ford employes are certificate to the amount of $6,200,000 have been holders; and that to date applications received. Between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars a day is being deposited by Ford owners toward certificates.

One interesting feature of the certificates is "In case of the death of an employe holding a certificate, it becomes payable, together with accrued return, to his personal representative; at the discretion of the Board of Directors, however, the certificate may be permitted to stand and to continue to draw returns for the benefit of the deceased employee's dependents."

YOUNG MEN'S SOCIAL

Last Friday afternoon some thirty-five young men of the Methodist church were invited to attend an informal social gathering at the Methodist parsonage. While the guests were arriving, jokes were told and a jolly half hour spent in this fashion. Then the doors to the dining room were thrown open and four tables bedecked with all kinds of good things to eat were seen by the men. They were told to go in and eat. Thanks were returned and then all fell to eating. The second course was good old lemon pie. After everybody had finished, the toastmaster, Rev. Key, called on several to make short impromptu speeches. Those that made talks were Roy Baskin, W. O. Triggs and Oxsheer Smith. After they had left the tables, Mr. Mack Harvey sang two solos, "Goodbye" and "Little Mother O' Mine." This was followed by a violin solo by Mr. Medsker and the last number on the program was a short concert by the Methodist church orchestra. The company went home expressing their wish for more of these social gatherings.

"CAVEMAN" STUFF ALL RIGHT

At Least, One Indiana Man Is Satisfied With the Way It Worked in His Particular Case.

Now, she is a very sarcastic young woman, and the man who wishes to marry her is often much tormented with her ability to say things which make him distinctly uncomfortable. One night one of his friends and he decided to go to a picture house and there they saw a play in which the caveman stuff was exceedingly strong. Evidently that gave the young man an inspiration, for the next cutting remark the young woman made he resented.

He had come to take her for a drive. After getting her safely settled in his car and having placed a large box of candy in her lap he settled down for a pleasant evening. But not long. The young woman could not stand his ease. She deliberately opened her box, took out a bonbon, nibbled at it a minute and then said in icy tones: "Why, this candy is stale."

At first the young man felt inclined to writhe, but the next minute the caveman stuff of the movie darted into his mind. He did what he thought was a real rough act. He seized that beautiful box of candy and threw it as far as he could.

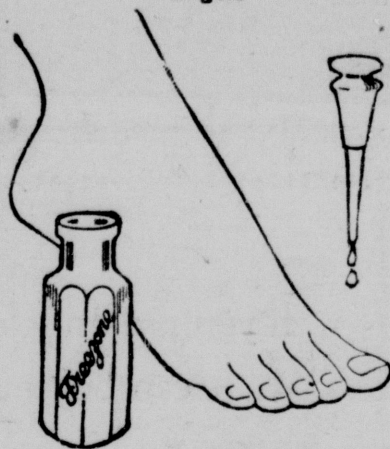

For a long time there was silence. Then the girl began the conversation. And this time she spoke meekly and in "honied" tones. She is still speaking in the same way whenever she is with him.—Indianapolis News.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Religious Patriots Write History in Bringing Christian Gospel to Reaches of Southwest In Early Day—Church History Told in Old Files of The Herald

Something big has come to pass in Cameron. It is something that represents more than the beauty of architecture in a great edifice whose spires reach into the blue of the Texas sky. It is something that cannot be told in the gray drab of stone or in the symmetrical harmony of architectural lines.

It is something big and enduring as the eternal sunset. It is something that the finest spirit and Christian impulses of more than seven decades has wrought in the crucible of sacrifice and of labor in the world of God. It is triumph blooming into the splendor of modern civilization because and ideal and a thing of spirit kept alive by the dauntless religious heroes and patriots who wrote their lives deep into the history of this republic. The modern church has caught the spirit and has carried on—has fulfilled the dream of a little church organized when the republic was young and religious freedom was limited.

The new church building to be erected by the Cameron Methodist church will cost approximately $100,000 when complete and will be one of the most modern and well equipped of the churches in Texas.

It represents the achievement of plans laid by a church with a vision and will express magnificently the progress which has been made by the local congregation of a great religious body. It represents more than an architectural triumph for in this new edifice is comprehended the Christian ideals of a religious citizenry whose steadfast labor has borne lasting fruits through more than seven decades.

The new edifice great in architectural design and of inestimable material and civic benefit to Cameron is much more a treasure for the inspiration it develops for religious activity in the city. With its modern design and equipment the activities of the church will be facilitated in such a way as to make progress more ready and church life more pleasant.

Construction of this building has begun and it is announced that work will be completed by next year. The pastor, Rev. Ira F. Key, has been in Cameron directing the church less than a year. His ministry here has won for him a large place in the religious and public life of Cameron. He is progressive and believes in progressive methods for the church as in business. Into the church plan has been incorporated many of his ideas and singular knowledge of the needs of the church.

The church building will be of concrete and brick and will be thoroughly fireproof. The auditorium capacity will seat over 800 people with a Sunday school capacity of 1000 or more.

In the woman's department will be a kitchenette. It will also have a very large Sunday School assembly room on the ground floor. One of the most modern features will be the movable stage for travelogue pictures. A picture machine will be installed in the church.

The men's department will be equipped with a shower bath and an athletic room with equipment sufficient to take care of a scout troop. The building will be heated in winter and ventilated in summer by the most modern of blast air systems.

A feature of the church will be the music. An electric organ will be installed. The interior will be trimmed in quarter-sawn oak, including the pews and the organ case. This will be carried out in a beautiful silver ray finish.

All of the memorial windows in the old church will be remodeled and installed in the new church.

The balcony in the main auditorium will seat near 300 people. The exterior will be of face brick of the very best make. A portion of the exterior in the bottom floor will be of concrete. Art glass windows will be installed throughout. There will be two front and two side entrances. The windows will be of bronze. The building will front south in line with the Federal Building. In the rear will be reserved a space for open air meetings or for addition to the church.

The architects are Waller, Silber & Company, 507 Bedell Building, San Antonio. Mr. Silber, who was in Cameron this week, will personally superintend the construction.

Following contracts have been awarded: Heating Moncrief Furnace and Manufacturing Company, Dallas;

Seating, Manitowac Church Furniture Company, Waukesha, Wis.; General Contractor, J. E. Johnson Construction Company, Waco; plumbing, Geisler & Vosnig, Waco; Electric, Martin Wright, San Antonio; Art Glass, Dallas Art Glass Company of Dallas.

From the files of The Cameron Herald we are able to reproduce the history of the Cameron Methodist church as nearly complete as records are available. The following account will be read with interest especially now that the new building is under construction:

(Published Dec. 16, 1915.)

The Methodist Church in Cameron is a monument to the missionary zeal of this church in older states, and the work was begun in the days of the republic of Texas.

"Robert Alexander, missionary to Texas," was the appointment read out at Natchez, Mississippi, at the close of the Mississippi conference in 1837. In those early days of Texas Protestantism was an outlawed heresy. To plant Methodism in Texas was the beginning of an heroic movement holding a tinge of romance. Alexander Thompson of the old town of Nashville, Milam county, a faithful Methodist, is said to have approached Horatio Chriesman, the first alcalde of this municipality at San Felipe, an official of the Mexican government, and after a circuitous train of conversation, presented to the alcalde the subject of preaching the pure gospel in Texas. He gained his consent and thus the way was paved for the coming into this county of the first Methodist itinerant preacher in Texas—Robert Alexander. In his work he endured many trials. Some of his appointments were separated by a distance of several days' journey which had to be traveled alone without reference to weather or accommodations. He often stopped in the Streetman home, where they had a bed of extra length made especially to accommodate this giant soldier of the cross whose height was six feet and five inches.

The first churches were the homes of the devout and in summer the spreading branches of the trees sheltered the worshippers. Texas Wesleyan Banner, the first paper published by the Methodist conferences in Texas, contains the following description of a Milam county camp meeting held in 1841: "Many from afar spread their tents to shelter them from the sun by day and dew by night, using the hindgates and other parts of their wagons for tables. They ate their frugal meals, worshipped God in the beauty of holiness. Many of them were converted at this meeting."

Mr. W. W. Oxsheer, who was one of the charter members of the Methodist church in Cameron, says in his memoirs: "The Methodists early effected an organization in Milam county and the first quarterly conference was held in Cameron in 1847. Rev. Josiah Whipple, the presiding elder, being charge of it."

Cameron church was not the first Methodist church in Milam county, the Port Sullivan church being older. It is a matter for regret that the minutes of the church conferences held between 1847 and 1861 are lost. Hence much interesting history of that period can not be secured. From the Methodist Historical Quarterly and Magazine which contains a history of Texas conference for that early preachers in charge of the work on period, the names of some of the Cameron circuit have been gleaned. In 1847 Pleasant M. Yell was pastor. In 1850 John W. DeVilbiss, whose name was one to conjure with on the Texas frontier, was in charge of the Cameron circuit. Later Daniel Morse was the preacher. At that time Cameron was part of a circuit and the preachers did not live in a comfortable parsonage in Cameron, but only visited this church at stated intervals. Cameron did not become a station with preaching every Sunday until the pastorate of Rev. John E. Greene in 1885. A parsonage had been bought previous to this time. The house, which is now the home of Mrs. Frank Werner, was once the Methodist parsonage. This property was sold and a parsonage built on the present site during the pastorate of Rev. S. C. Vaughn, whose wife died there when the parsonage was new. The present parsonage was built in 1911 during the pastorate of Rev. A.

A. Wagnon. The increased value of the preacher's home may be taken as an indication of the growth of the church through the years.

From the time of its organization up to the close of the civil war colored people were received into the church as members and a place set aside for them in the congregation.

It was formerly the custom of the Methodist church everywhere to be divided into classes with class leaders. The following letter copied from the old church class book will recall this custom now fallen into disuse:

"Dear Brethren—You will remember the Friday before each quarterly meeting as a day set aside for fasting and prayer for the prosperity of Zion and of us, your ministers, for Christ's sake.

"L. B. Whipple, P. E.
"J. Fred Cox, P. C.
"August 6, 1869."

The old church registers contain the names of some who have been accounted great by their fellows, but many more whose only claim to greatness was their goodness. Several local elders whose names are venerated for piety have been connected with the Cameron church. Among them are Jeremiah Nabours, W. W. Hopkins, Dr. J. C. Womack, Reverend James Peeler, Dr. Ed Martin and others.

The title to the property owned by the Cameron Methodist church was acquired in 1881. This lot was bought from Cameron lodge No. 56, Odd Fellows, deed recorded book E, volume 65, page 93. The first church building owned by this congregation was a wooden structure built in 1881 during the pastorate of Rev. J. H. Collard. This was removed in 1899 to make way for the present brick building, which was erected during the pastorate of Rev. James Kilgore in 1901.

Around this church building cluster sacred associations and hallowed memories but the most noted event in church history connected with it was the meeting here of the Texas annual conference which met in Cameron church in 1894, with Bishop Robert K. Hargrove presiding. The death of Rev. Joseph Whipple occurred that year and impressive memorial services were held for him in this, one of the first churches he had organized in Texas. Several of the bishops of the church have preached in the Cameron church.

Among the names of the presiding elders who have had oversight of the Cameron church appears that of "Robert Crawford," statesman, San Jacinto veteran and member of the first constitutional convention of the republic of Texas. He was the father of the late Judge John Crawford of Franklin. Following him came Dr. I. G. John of sainted memory, W. R. D. Steckton, L. B. Whipple, George W. Graves, I. Z. T. Morris, H. V. Philpott, Fred Allen, J. C. Mickle, E. W. Solomon, J. B. Cochran, C. R. Lamar, C. F. Smith, A. A. Wagnon, E. L. Shettles, I. F. Betts and George W. Davis, who has been returned for next year—1916.

From the time the records have been kept to the present day the names of the pastors of Cameron church follow: Rufus Y. King, J. W. Baldrige, I. G. Gilmore, N. T. Higgins, Oscar M. Addison, John Carpenter, J. Fred Cox, J. F. W. Toland, T. J. Hutson, J. W. Walkup, H. H. Sullivan, W. W. Henderson, J. H. Collard, James Campbell, S. C. Vaughn, John E. Green, C. R. Wright, S. C. Littlepage, Weems Wooten, Jno. T. Browning, George A. Leclare, Jas. Kilgore, J. L. Massey, C. J. Oxley, J. T. Smith, C. T. Talley, E. L. Shettles, A. A. Wagnon, W. D. White and H. C. Willis.

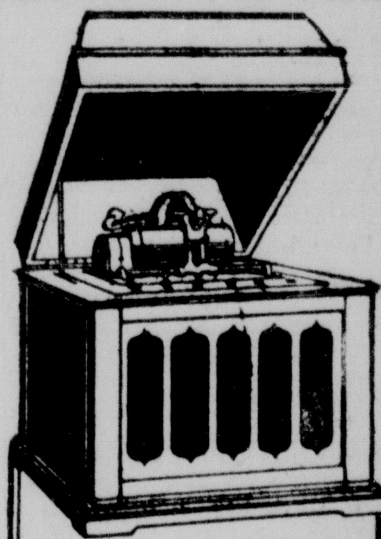

The Woman's Missionary Society is now a valuable help to the pastor in his pastoral work and the society in Cameron has proven no exception to this rule. Rev. Leclare first organized such a society in Cameron, but this lapsed and was reorganized into a Woman's Home Mission Society by the Rev. J. L. Massey. During his pastorate the society entertained the Texas Conference Society. The Foreign and Home Mission Societies have been merged into one and the present parsonage is a monument to the industry of this society. Mrs. C. D. Lay is the president and most of the women of the congregation are enlisted in the work.

The Methodist Sunday school is also a valuable adjunct to the church work. The Cameron Sunday school was organized as a union Sunday school in 1867 under the pastorate of Oscar M. Addison and was for a long time the only Sunday school in town. W. B. Streetman was the first superintendent. He served nineteen years and is kindly remembered in this capacity. He was succeeded by T. C. Safford, who held the office until succeeded by Rev. C. R. Wright. B. J. Baskin then served for a time. Jeff T. Kemp was superintendent from 1891 to 1904, followed by Walter Nelson, who was superintendent for one year. A. W. Taber was selected by the conference in 1905, and in 1907, R. H. McIntosh, the present incumbent, has served continuously and acceptably since November 18, 1907. In the Sunday school are enrolled more than 300 scholars and 28 officers and teachers.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have a healthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50c per bottle.

The World's Greatest Phonograph VALUE!

Every day the superiority of Edison's wonderful Amberola phonograph over much higher priced "talking machines" and commercial phonographs is becoming more widely recognized.

We don't ask you to buy an Amberola without investigating other phonographs—we welcome comparison. But we do ask you not to buy any phonograph before you have listened to

Edison's New Diamond AMBEROLA

Compare the pure tone of the Amberola with the shrillness and metallic sound of commercial phonographs. Compare the Amberola's permanent Diamond Point Reproduser with the cost and bother of changing needles. Compare the long-lasting Amberol Records with fragile "talking machine" records. COX CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS; SWEEPS NEW YORK STATE

POST FOR PARTISAN PROP-AGANDA—BETRAYS POL-ICY, SAYS "JIMMY."

New York, Oct. 26.—After a 40-hour visit which his campaign fangled declared had "won New York,"
afternoon for the last week of his campaign speech making.

Before entraining for West Virginia, and thence to Indiana, Kentucky,
and Ohio, the democratic candidate expressed "entire confidence" in the outcome of the campaign.

Throughout the day, Governor Cox
received the latest reports on the election outlook from his lieutenants
in the field.

In the course of the afternoon Mrs.
Cox announced she had given up her
plan to accompany her husband on the southern tour returning to Dayton to await the outcome.

Just before leaving the hotel for
the Pennsylvania station, where the
special train waited, Governor Cox
issued the following statement:

"Propaganda is not effective when
it is labeled, but in the guise of facts
it strangles the truth and moulds the minds into which it is introduced as facts.

"I am just now in possession of a specimen of propaganda of this very sort. It is an advance copy of the Saturday Evening Post, known to a great public as a disinterested journal. In all its history its stated purpose has been to present the facts
and atmosphere of political situations
and to refrain from controversial positions.

"But the number of this magazine,
which is to be distributed next Thursday, the last number before election,
suddenly throws off the cloak of non-partisanship. For the first time in its history it resorts to the devices of
partisan editorial and insidious cartoons to create a sentiment for the republican ticket. In the cartoons I am represented as a newsboy, invent-
ing false and sensational happenings
for the purpose of selling my wares.
My opponent is depicted as kindly
and wise. The impression is sought to be created that I am irresponsible;
Senator Harding grave and reliable.

"Why has the Saturday Evening
Post done this? Why has it betrayed
its mission at the eleventh hour of this campaign? The people know the answer. It has done this thing because its owner is one of the plutocratic
group which knows what it wants of the next administration and how to get it from the syndicate which controls Senator Harding. It has done

this because its owner is the head of the movement which has sought a subsidy from the government for the delivery of national magazines. The

To the People of Milam County:

I desire in this public manner to invite the attention of the people to my candidacy for the office of tax assessor for Milam County. I am the regular nominee of the American Party for such office in this county. I am 32 years of age, was born in Milam County, and have lived in this county all of my life with the exception of about three years. I have always been a Democrat and affiliated with the Democratic Party until the present year, but the policies pursued and the legislation enacted by that party in recent years has led me to the conclusion that it is no longer a party pledged to the best interest and welfare of the people, and I have, therefore, renounced my allegiance to the Democratic Party and given my allegiance to the American Party.

If the people of Milam County shall endorse my candidacy for the office to which I aspire, I pledge them in advance that I shall bring to the discharge of the duties of such office a fair, honest and intelligent intention and purpose to serve the people without fear or favor toward any, and I promise you in advance that all of the property in this County shall be assessed, and that it shall be fairly and efficiently done, and can be done without the aid or assistance of any block map of any other contrivance to be paid for out of the public funds.

Therefore, I have submitted my candidacy to the good people of Milam county among whom I have lived all my life, and shall be grateful to them for their endorsement and support in the coming general election.

JOHNSON'S SPEECH CONTRADICTS ROOT

JOHNSON'S SPEECH CONTRADICTS CALIFORNIAN SAYS HARDING STANDS FOR REJECTION OF LEAGUE.

New York, Oct. 20.—In direct contradiction to the pronouncement of Elihu Root Tuesday regarding Senator Harding's position on the League of Nations issue Senator Hiram Johnson of California, in a speech at Hoboken Wednesday night declared flatly that the Republican candidate "will not take the United States into the League of Nations."

Johnson declared that Senator Harding stands for outright rejection of the League and that there has never been anything in his remarks since he was made the nominee of the party that could be termed ambiguous or misleading.

"The issue today," said Senator Johnson, "is the League of Nations as presented by President Wilson, which Cox says he will take the country into and which Harding says he won't."

"I speak of course, from the public utterances of our candidate and these utterances make plain beyond cavil that when president he will not take the United States into the league."

"He called it a supreme blunder. He instanced the war between Poland and Russia as indicating what we'd have been let in for, in the language of Secretary of State Lansing, but for the action of the Senate, and this Polish-Russian war he said, brought home to us the danger of committing ourselves in advance to causes we knew not of."

Joining a league with countries that owe us billions of money, Senator Johnson said, was "like a merchant placing himself in the hands of his debtors."

MILANO NEWS

By Chas. Howes.

Rev. C. L. Shelby filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church today.

We ahd a little bronco busting this Sunday afternoon. The horse was victorious, and threw an expert rider several times.

Mrs. Russell is better but still is quite sick and partially paralyzed.

Ild Faber Kirk at Hanover is expecting to get his U. S. pension raised. Everybody will be glad of it. Any old man who is old enough to have fought the Indians and served in the Mexican war deserves well of his country.

Times are getting good in old Milano. Wages about $6.00 a day, corn $1.00 abushel, sugar 12 1-2 cents a pound, and coffee 20 cents a pound strikes me as pretty nice. One young lady has bought a very good pony and has enough money left to buy a second hand buggy from twenty days salary in a small country school.

I don't want any of Senator Harding's normality myself and wages down to $1.50 per day. I prefer abnormal conditions.

The chronic kicking and dissatisfaction among the people is hard for me to understand. I am afraid sometimes the good Lord will send a drought or an earthquake or a pestilence to bring us to our senses.

Miss Ella Taylor, the freight clerk at the depot, is taking her well earned vacation just now.

Mr. H. O. Graves of Thorndale is in town today.

Mr. Louis Newman has lost another brother at Austin. Mr. Newman has the sympathy of the town. This misfortune following so close after the death of his son less than a month ago.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithit, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

TEXAS EDITORS TO HAVE BIG SESSION

GREAT TIME PROMISED BY THE CITY OF McALLEN—TO MEET NEXT JUNE.

Rockdale, Texas, Oct. 20.—John E. Cooke, editor of the Rockdale Reporter and president of the Texas Press Association has returned from Dallas where he attended a called meeting of the executive committee of the association Sunday. At this meeting the city of McAllen, Texas, was selected as the place to hold the 1921 convention of the association, and the dates named are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 9, 10, and 11th.

There was a spirited contest for the convention honors between McAllen, Galveston, Dallas and Mineral Wells, the first named two cities having strong delegations present to present their claims of their respective towns. McAllen promised the editors the strongest line of entertainment features including a trip to Matamoros, Mexico, a complimentary train of Pullman cars from Dallas and free hotel accommodations during the convention. Secretary Sam P. Harbon also has been advised by the railroads that newspaper men desiring to make the trip will be given cash advertising contracts of sufficient size to cover round trip tickets for two representatives from each paper.

The association officers contemplate the most enjoyable convention since the El Paso in 1916 when all records for entertainment and travel were broken. From all over the state come assurances to the officers that the attendance will be unusually large.

The program committee also met in Dallas Sunday and effected a preliminary draft of the business part of the program for the 1921 meeting. This committee will hold another meeting in January for the completion of its labors.

Rev. Shettle of the Brenham district and a former pastor of the Cameron Methodist church preached last Sunday morning instead of Rev. Key, who filled the pulpit elsewhere.

5,712.057 BALES OF COTTON GINNED

LAST YEAR AT THIS TIME
782,953 BALES.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The Government's cotton ginning report today showed a total of 5,712,057 bales ginned prior to October 18, and indicated that the sporadic attempts through the cotton belt to keep gins closed until the price of cotton advanced to higher levels had had little effect on prices. The ginnings this year aggregate 782,953 bales more than that quantity ginned last year up to October 18th, when the crop was 794,000 bales smaller than that forecast for this year.

On the Government's forecast of a crop of 12,123,000 bales this year, the ginnings to October 18th appeared to be about 47.1 per cent of the total. This is a higher average than was ginned last year to October 18th, 43.5 per cent, but lower than the average for the last eighteen years.

In the total of 5,712,057 running bales, there were included 138,554 of round bales, 14,312 bales of American-Egyptian and 340 bales of sea island.

Ginning last year to Oct. 18th amounted to 4,299,104 running bales, including 55,555 round bales, 8,890 of American-Egyptian and 1,792 of sea island.

Ginning this year to Oct. 18 by States:

Alabama, 281,753; Arizona, 19,678; Arkansas 347,439; California, 13,914; Florida, 9,614; Georgia, 709,404; Louisiana, 204,096; Mississippi, 348,197; Missouri, 13,573; North Carolina 191,263; Oklahoma, 357,010; South Carolina, 564,159; Tennessee 53,519; Texas, 2,595,147; Virginia, 1,081; all other states, 1,210.

COTTON GINNERS ASKED TO CLOSE

GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA APPEALS FOR ACTION TO AID FARMERS.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 25.—Governor Parker today issued an appeal to the cotton ginner of the South to close down for a least thirty days in order that the producers may receive a living price for their products. The appeal was sent by telegrams by Governor Parker to the Governor of every Southern state.

"The one great agricultural crop in which the South has almost a monopoly is cotton," said Governor Parker, "and with a number of short crops in succession and the certainty the world urgently needs cotton, it is almost criminal to force this crop on the market at prices far below actual cost, bringing ruin to farmers and thereby ultimate disaster to the spinners and actual suffering to those needing cotton goods.

"The question is a serious one and one which should be approached with that earnestness which the critical conditions demand and not from the standpoint of hysteria or lawlessness.

"Bankers and merchants should co-operate in his work which is equally important to State and Nation, to producer and to consumer.

"The present emergency requires the attention and co-operation of all classes of citizens in justifying the request for all gins to shut down for at least thirty days or longer if necessary, in order that the producer may receive living prices for his product and the great cotton industry not crippled or destroyed.

"I deem it necessary to issue this appeal in the interest of the public welfare."

DISCARDED AS DANGEROUS

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

RED CROSS DAY PROCLAIMED BY GOVERNOR HOBBY

NOVEMBER 11 DAY ON WHICH
OF TEXAS.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 26.—Governor Wm. P. Hobby, in a proclamation just issued by him, praises the American Red Cross and endorses the purposes of its Fourth Roll Call which will begin on Armistice Day, November 11 and close on Thanksgiving Day, November 25. The proclamation by the State's chief executive is as follows:

"WHEREAS, The American Red Cross, for thirty-two years previous to the Great War, and in the years succeeding, has demonstrated an unusual ability to assist the government and the citizens of this country in meeting and solving many community problems;

"AND WHEREAS, it is the recognized official agency chartered by Congress to carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace as well as to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, W. P. Hobby, Governor of the State of Texas, do ask and urge that all citizens, in recognition of the services previously rendered and as an expression of sympathy with the extensive program for relief which the American Red Cross is now carrying on, renew their membership during the annual Red Cross Roll which will begin on Armistice Day, November 11, and terminate on Thanksgiving Day, November 25th."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

To remove bilious impurities in the system and be made internally clean and healthy, you need the fine tonic and laxative properties of Herbine. It acts quickly and thoroughly. Price 60c. Sold by Pace-Marshall Drug Company.

It is a powerful and scientific combination of sulphur and other healing agents for the relief and cure of diseases of the skin. It is especially effective in the ITCHING VARIETIES; giving instant relief from the itching and smarting sensations and by its germ-destroying properties it exterminates the microbe which is the cause of the eruption, thus curing the disease completely.

Littell's Liquid Sulphur Compound is used in all cases of Eczema, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Herpes, Rash, Oak and Ivy Poisoning, also for relieving the annoyance caused by chiggers and mosquito bites.

In the treatment of ECZEMA—the most painful and obstinate of all skin diseases—it is one of the most successful remedies known.

COMMON SENSE APPLIED TO AUTOMOBILE PRICES

"Price slashing is not good business. It is usually unfair to someone," says E. A. Flynn, manager of Daugherty Motor Company, the local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"Either goods sold previous to a cut in price were not worth the price asked or the new price results in a loss to the manufacturer.

"The only sound reason for price reduction is actual decrease in the cost of production.

"If the price of an article is based fairly on the cost of the materials and labor that go into its manufacture that price can not be lowered until the cost of these two items comes down.

"There has been no decrease in the cost of materials or labor employed in the automobile industry.

"Unless a car has been over priced therefore, any reduction means a loss to the manufacturer—a loss that must be made up somewhere if he expects to stay in business.

"Neither in the automobile industry nor any other can a business be successfully operated at a loss. Such a condition can only be temporary if the quality of the product is to be maintained.

"If the present prices of automobiles are successfully maintained therefore, it will show that they are the right prices—for materials and labor costs are unchanged."

You Do More Work.

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill Tonic is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill Tonic has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill Tonic when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney regions it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the bod's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediments, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

THE FIRST ROBIN

By NELL ADAIR.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

They sat on the platform before the little faraway station, vainly trying to veil their impatience. The girl in a modish spring suit, swung her shoes with their pearl-colored spats to and fro, as she perched on the end of a hand car, while the man strode up and down in his high-topped rubber boots. The girl glanced askance at the rubber boots and the flannel shirt without a collar; she was not accustomed to friendliness with men of so rough appearance.

But in this desolate spot friendly companionship seemed necessary to allay one's fears of solitude. Why in the world had Elizabeth urged her visit at this time when muddy roads made auto-riding an impossibility.

Elizabeth should have considered that the junction would be far from a pleasing spot in which to pass a waiting hour. It would be at least an hour, the surly station agent had told her, before the next train came in. Nora Dean had been the only passenger to leave the incoming car at the junction. The patch of meadow land before the crude station was almost sunken in the spring flow from the lake. Nora gazed dolefully out to where other car tracks stretched beyond. Presently the big man gave an exclamation, and stood still before the hand-car.

Nora relaxed her stiffness to follow his pointing finger.

"It's the first robin I have seen."

The man returned her smile and Nora saw that the face under the soft hat was a fine face after all.

"You might make a wish," he ventured pleasantly. "A wish made when viewing the first robin of spring is supposed to come true. Think I'll make one myself."

"Then wish," Nora crisply suggested, that the tardy old train will come along, to carry us out of this dreadful place."

"As to that," the big man calmly replied, "I'm not so sure now that I want to go."

Nora gasped and immediately returned to her former frigid demeanor.

"I was just wondering," he said conversationally, "how you are going to get over to the train when it does come without ruining those dainty spats. And your thin shoes won't be much protection I fear in a walk through the water."

"You mean," Nora asked unbelievably, "that we have to board the train over there?"

"I'm clad for the occasion, you see," he said smilingly, "so topboots are not always a disadvantage."

"Whatever shall I do?" she murmured, troubled.

"They can't expect passengers to wade through a lake."

"It's evident," the man said, "that neither did the officials expect this flood. And few passengers it seems stop off at just this spot. However, don't you worry, we'll think of a way." And, marvelously, at his tone of assurance Nora abruptly ceased to worry.

He would find a way, as he had said. She regarded the stranger's broad figure admiringly as he again strode thoughtfully down the platform. Why couldn't the men of her world possess this man's quality of inherent strength and power, she wondered. They were nice boys, the boys she knew, attentive escorts of polished refined appearance. She could fancy the incredulous expression of Tommy Brisbane's face, for instance, if he might see her now in easy conversation with this roughly clad chance acquaintance of a rural station.

Nora picked up the handbag and was in turn immediately and as easily picked up herself. It was not until the stranger had carefully deposited her upon the raised ledge of land beside the incoming train that she found her scattered senses sufficiently to say: "Thank you."

For surely he had saved her an uncomfortable perplexing time. The pearl spats were still immaculate and as the big man snatched the felt hat from his head in acknowledgment, he at once relieved her of his presence.

The unusual assistance has been, she smilingly told herself, most gracefully and thoughtfully given.

Nora upbraided her friend, Elizabeth, however, when that young person met her at the journey's end.

"Never again," she admonished, "invite me to visit you when I have to come by train route."

Elizabeth laughed.

"Why there are lots of interesting things there in the junction section," she said, "incidentally some interesting people there to meet. As soon as the road is passable Brother Bill will insist on driving you over to meet his old college friend, now the noted civil engineer who is putting through the big new railroad. He has a picturesque shack near the junction and Bill adores him."

And later when Nora, after Bill's proud introduction, stood looking up into the face of her remembered station-platform companion the kind, twinkly eyes smiled suddenly down into hers.

LONGER CREDIT TO
AID THE FARMERS

Dallas, Oct. 21.—Assurance that the Federal Reserve Board will co-operate with the farmers to the fullest extent by granting banks longer credit on cotton notes, was given this morning by Judge W. F. Ramsey, federal agent for the Reserve Board in the Eleventh District in addressing a statewide conference of ginners, bankers and business men here.

Judge Ramsey contended that the financial condition of the nation is as sound now as it had ever been.

"The Federal Reserve Bank will function properly in giving member banks longer time on cotton paper. Credit has been available for cotton as in other industries, and I see no reason why that credit should be discontinued," he said.

Judge Ramsey added that the Federal Reserve Board of Directors favors a system of gradual marketing of cotton, but that they would not support an ironclad rule of holding cotton indefinitely.

He urged the adoption of resolutions embodying the following principles:

Unanimous support of a movement to organize a large export corporation to establish credit and to market the cotton crop.

Combining of all activities to better market conditions, but to lend aid to no price fixing.

Inauguration in Texas of a campaign for greater diversification of crops.

Establishment of cotton warehouses to be maintained by the State.

The new motion picture house of Mr. Sam Hefley is rapidly nearing completion. It is to be one of the best picture houses in Central Texas costing over $15,000. The main features of the house are the balcony and pro-half the length of the building and jecting room. The balcony will extend will seat many people. The projecting room will contain two high candle powered Powers projecting machines and the floor will be of concrete and the walls and ceiling are to be of fire proof material, making the room strictly fire-proof. When completed the show will be the pride of Cameron.

RATING PROFIT HIGHER THAN HUMAN LIFE

If a substitute is offered you for an advertised medicine, you can bank on it that the vendor is doing it for a bigger profit and rates profit higher than human life. One bottle of Mendenhall's Number 49 For The Blood will go as far as six bottles of the ordinary blood medicine sold in drug stores. It is put up by J. C. Mendenhall, a druggist of Evansville, Ind., since 1873. The ingredients entering into Number 49 are set down in the U. S. Dispensatory and other authoritative books on medicine as follows: "In the treatment of diseases of the blood, an acknowledged remedy among all schools of physicians. Removes the cause of disease by stimulating the removal of waste products in the system, thus encouraging nutrition. Disorders of the nervous system demand this treatment, such as neuralgias, headaches, constipation, chronic rheumatism and catarrh. Used with phenomenal success in eczema, sores, ulcers, boils and glandular swellings." Mrs. Fannie Thurman, 106 W. Ash St., Columbia, Mo., writes as follows: "I was run down with rheumatism, had nervous breakdown with stiffness and swelling of the joints so I could not move without great pain. I read an ad. for Number 49 and decided to try it. I was relieved with the first bottle and since taking the second the stiffness and pains have left me and I feel as supple as a child. I am sending you this letter as I think every sufferer should hear of the wonderful merits of Number 49."

MACSWINEY, FAMOUS HUNGER STRIKER IS DEAD IN LONDON

IS MARTYR TO CAUSE OF IRISH
FREEDOM, AND VICTIM OF
BRITISH CRUELTY. BRIT-AIN MAY HAVE WAR.

London, Oct. 25.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, died at Brixton prison, this city, at 5:40 o'clock this morning. His death followed a hunger strike of more than seventy-three days, eclipsing any in the annals of the world.

MacSwiney, who had been unconscious for several days, did not recover his faculties before he died. Father Dominic, his private chaplain, and his brother, John MacSwiney, were with him when the end came. Father Dominic was at the prison all night and did not leave until several hours after MacSwiney breathed his last.

John MacSwiney and the chaplain, who had been visiting downstairs in the prison, were told by prison officials at 4:35 o'clock that they should go to the bedside of the mayor, as they thought death was approaching.

The brother asked for the privilege of communicating with other relatives who were not present, but the officials it is said, refused him the use of the telephone. After the prisoner's death, his brother and the chaplain were not permitted to leave Brixton prison until 6:15 o'clock.

John MacSwiney immediately conveyed word to the widow of the lord mayor, who was staying at a West End hotel with Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, the former being the London executive of the Irish Self-Determination League.

Burial In Ireland.

Mrs. MacSwiney, accompanied by her parents and the Misses Annie and Mary MacSwiney, sisters of the lord mayor, arrived at the Brixton prison at 9:20 a. m.

It is understood arrangements are being made to take the body to Ireland for burial.

News of MacSwiney's death had not become known in the district around Brixton prison until after 9 o'clock. The usual large contingent of police was on duty inside the prison grounds to prevent any demonstration but outside and along the road leading to the main highway there were no unusual signs of activity. No civilians were waiting there as they usually did in the early days of the lord mayor's hunger strike.

It is probable the inquest will be held at the prison today after which the body will be turned over to relatives.

No Last Sacrament.

MacSwiney was unconscious for thirty-six hours before his death occurred, it is stated. Father Dominic, therefore, was unable to give him the last sacrament, but he administered extreme unction.

The cause of MacSwiney's death was heart failure, according to statement issued at the Home Office.

This statement is considered an indirect answer to the criticisms of Dr. Josiah Oldfield, the physician and publicist who had declared it was wrong for the lord mayor's doctors to administer meat juice and brandy. He said brandy was poison and that a man at the point of death was very susceptible to poison. Dr. Oldfield added that when a man fasted a long time the first food he could endure was fruit juice.

When one of the officials was asked today regarding Mrs. MacSwiney's absence from the bedside when death occurred, he replied by saying the restriction which was recently imposed upon the visits of relatives were urged by the attending physicians as vital to the prisoner's own interests.

On "Strike" Before.

Terence MacSwiney was 48 years old and was one of the most prominent Sinn Feiners. He started life as a draper's assistant, but became a poet, author and a playwright before taking up politics seriously. Later he became violently anti-English.

While in Wakefield jail, Yorkshire, in 1916, he met Muriel Murphy, the daughter of a wealthy Cork distiller, who visited the jail, and shortly after they were married, despite much opposition.

MacSwiney was elected as a Sinn Fein member from Cork of the British Parliament in 1918, but never took his seat. He was present at the first session of the Irish Parliament in 1919, when the establishment of the republic was confirmed and was elected Lord Mayor of Cork in 1920.

For various political offenses, he had been in jail with brief intervals of liberty since January 1916, and in October 1917, secured his release from jail by hunger striking.

As soon as the news of the lord mayor's death began to spread thru the city small knots of people began moving toward Brixton prison. The police, however, did not allow anyone to pass into the street leading to the prison entrance, keeping the people moving so that a crowd could not form. Fear had previously been expressed that the lord mayor's death might cause a demonstration at the prison.

The MacSwiney family arranged during the morning for the removal of the body from the prison to St. George's Cathedral in London as soon as the inquest was ended. The body will lie in state there until it is taken to Dublin, where it is planned to place it for a day or two in the Mansion house.

The death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was the first of an Irish hunger strike occur in England. Just a week ago, on the occasion of the death of Michael Fitzgerald, one of the eleven hunger strikers in the Cork jail,

the lord mayor telegraphed:

Feeding Too Late.

It became evident several days ago that MacSwiney was nearing the end. Up to that time he had steadfastly refused nourishment, although tempting dishes were brought to his bedside daily by the authorities. Both the authorities and the lord mayor's relatives emphatically stated they had not administered food to the prisoner, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary.

At last, after the mayor had reached the stage of extreme emaciation, had become periodically delirious, the officials began to give him liquid nourishment. This came too late, however, as the mayor has been all but dead for many days.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR
It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost "pound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Crying For Bread

Photo International.
New East Relief Workers Distributing Bread to Newly Arrived Armenian Refugees in Constantinople.

The Constantinople district of the Near East Relief is wonderfully organized. All the bakeries which formerly supplied the Turkish army, under German management, have been taken over by the Near East Relief, and 20,000 loaves of bread are baked and distributed daily. Placed side by side, these loaves would make a line 280 miles long, for the five months that the Near East Relief has operated its consolidated bakeries in Constantinople, alone.

The Near East Relief, with offices in every state, is asking for funds to go on with this work.

Harem Victim Tells Story

Stolen from her home on the night before her wedding and imprisoned for five years in a Turkish harem, Aghavni Millian, a beautiful nineteen-year-old Armenian girl from Bitlis, has at last been discovered by her lover and through the assistance of the Near East Relief forcibly taken from her master and brought to one of the American Rescue Homes in Constantinople. Here she will stay until arrangements can be made for her marriage and her return to her old home.

"My story—it is like hundreds of others," Aghavni said simply. "I was stolen from my home on the night that the massacres first began in Bitlis. It was the night before I was to have been married. I was just folding my wedding veil away when the Turkish soldiers broke into the house. They carried me off. I—They took me up to Constantinople to the house of the man"—She stopped and put one hand over her eyes, a hand that bore the tell-tale tattoo of her Turkish master.

"But what does my story matter?" she exclaimed. "I am only one of so many. It is my people and their future that matters. Somehow we must rebuild our nation and show to the Turks who tried to beat out our life and to the whole world that, despite what we have suffered, Armenia is still unconquerable."

Aghavni Millian is, as she says, only one of many. It is estimated that one hundred thousand girls are still held captive in Turkish harems. The Near East Relief, America's official agent in Armenia, is making this work of rescue one of the most important features of its program, and it is to them and the support they receive from the American people that Aghavni's unfortunate sisters, still captive, must look for their release.

WAITING FOR US TO SET THE TABLE

A table twenty-four miles long is plainly an extension table and that is just the length that would seat all of the orphans now being fed by the Near East Relief. This table is set in sections all over the hills of Asia Minor, Syria, Armenia and in Northern Persia. It is not in one piece. The Turks, who still keep the Armenians in a state of terror, do not allow it.

But there the table is, seated on both sides with orphans—Syrian and

The Table Is Now 24 Miles Long.

Assyrian, Greek and Armenian, Jew and Christian—all rescued from the fear of the Turk and under the care of American men and women.

Most of the children are cared for in 229 American supported orphanages. The first ceremony in receiving these starved, almost naked children, is to clean them up. They are not only emaciated, but dirty with sores and vermin—69 hospitals and over 6,000 beds are kept full of the little sufferers.

But the children keep changing. Last year they were all thin and pitiful; now it is the newcomers who are thin. The orphans who have been from six months to a year in American care are well fed and well clothed.

Best of all for a new Near East which surely must come out of all this distress, every child old enough is being taught a trade which will make him self supporting.

They are a thrifty lot, these little parentless exiles. From their scant store of bread they always carry a portion in a small bag about their necks—they fear the day of another killing, another drive into the desert.

They horde the shoes sent from America until snow flies—they remember their barefoot pain in the snows last spring.

They cling to their new found friends. Every day other little waifs find a place in the orphanages and are told of the generous people of the United States. Soon the entrances will be crowded with children frozen out from their temporary summer quarters.

Then the table of the Near East Relief must be extended—many, many new leaves will be needed, and America is asked to set the table.

Armenian Refugees Line Up for Food.

As cold weather sets in refugees are pouring into Near East Relief centers. This group is fed daily in the former Russian barracks at Alexandropol, one of the safest cities in the Caucasus.

DID NEFF TELL THE TRUTH WHEN HE CALLED SENATOR J. W. BAILEY AN INFAMOUS LIAR

In the recent democratic campaign Mr. Bailey introduced public records showing that Pat M. Neff was born in 1872. In reply Neff denounced Bailey as a liar and a falsifier and claimed that he was born in 1871. To support his assertion the family Bible of his father, Noah Neff, was produced, giving the names and birth of all the brothers and sisters of Pat M. Neff.

The last entry in said Bible read:

"Patty Morris Neff was born Nov. 26th, 1871."

So far as my information goes, I have never heard that Pat M. Neff has ever specifically claimed that this entry in the Bible was made for his birth-date. Nor have I ever heard that he claimed that his original name was Patty. Nor has Pat Neff ever anywhere spelled his name with two t's (Patt). He swore in his application for place on the ballot that it was Pat, and now so appears on the ticket.

During the campaign the page in the Bible was photographed in Waco and later was photographed in Dallas and I have copies of both photographs in my possession. The first photograph plainly showed the name to be "Patty." The second photograph showed the letter "y" erased and the Bible now reads Patt Morris Neff.

The names on the page of the Bible as first photographed are as follows:

Edward Lewis Neff

was born Dec. 31, 1855

Charles Deyerle Neff

was born April 7th, 1857

Samuel Herbert Neff

was born Sept. 25th, 1858

Benjamin Russell Neff

was born Nov. 29th, 1860

Robert Shepherd Neff

was born Aug. 21st, 186

Sallie Jane Neff

was born Dec. 9th, 1864

David Leslie Neff

was born Oct. 28th, 1866.

Elizabeth Frances Neff

was born July 18th, 1868.

PATTY MORRIS NEFF

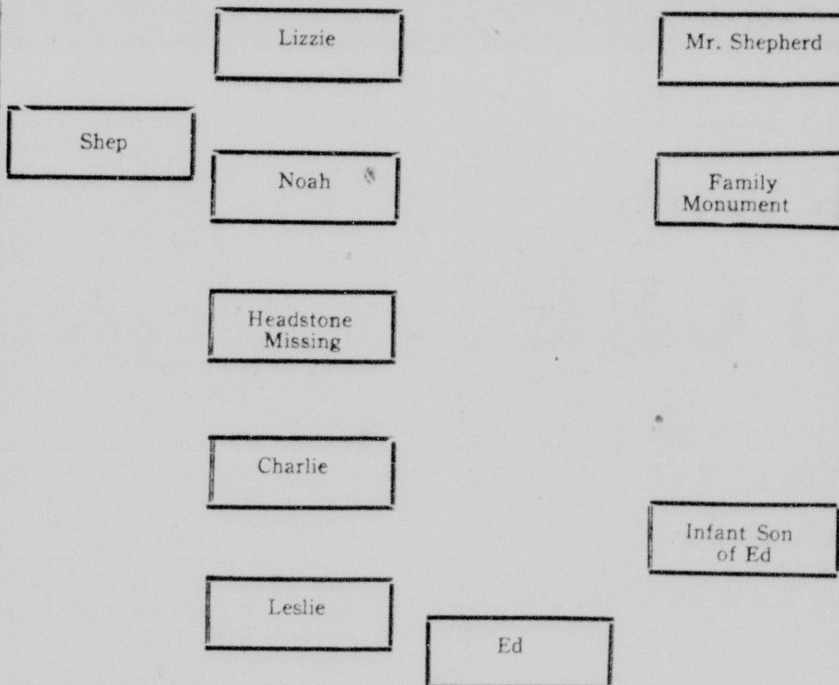

was born Nov. 26th, 1871.

Having recently been informed that the said Patty Morris Neff was born Nov. 26th, 1871, and was a sister of Pat M. Neff, and had died when a year old, and that her grave was marked by a tombstone in the Post Oak graveyard, situated about three miles south of Oglesby, in Coryell County, Texas, for my own satisfaction and for the purpose of getting all the facts of a controversy which had been the subject of so much discussion in the campaign, I, in company with a friend, went to said Post Oak graveyard.

There I found nine graves of the Neff family on one lot, all marked by tombstones and inscriptions on same, except one, which did not have the tombstone, but there remained a limestone foundation for the missing tombstone. I examined carefully said foundation. It is a limestone block about 16 inches square and about 10 inches thick (deep). In the top surface is cut a trench or a groove, some 2 inches wide and 12 inches long in which to fit the marble slab or tombstone.

Three of the graves in the same row, two south and one north of it, had similar foundations, in the grooves of which were small upright marble slabs bearing marks as indicated by the diagram printed below. While the grave farthest north is marked by a marble stone of different form. All appearances indicated that the stone had been recently removed. A large bunch of sedge grass about two feet high and in bloom which stood near the head of the grave had been stepped on and pressed so firmly that all the stems were bent or broken just at the top of the ground, and it lay still green, full length along the earth. Also the violent jerk or pull that lifted the slab out of the groove moved the foundation an inch or so to the east, leaving exposed the bare ground, while the grass grew close and even partially covered the other foundations. It was obvious that the foot of the person was firmly pressing on the large bunch of sedge grass and broke it down while tugging at the slab.

DIAGRAM OF NEFF BURIAL PLOT

By checking the tombstones against the Bible records we find that all the Neff children are buried in this grave yard with the exception of Benjamin Neff, who is buried at McGregor, Texas, (and I have seen his tomb there, and Sallie Jane and Samuel Herbert Neff, who are yet living.

The question then arises: "From whose grave was the tombstone taken?"

"If said missing tombstone did not bear the inscrip-

The actual Value of the Little Studebaker Six

Has never been so clearly recognized as it is right now

A market such as this always brings in sharp relief values that are really sound.

It shows which cars are over-priced and which cars are worth every dollar asked for them.

It makes plain just how low priced the Studebaker Six is in comparison with those cars which even approximate it in cost. The soundness of Studebaker policies has been demonstrated.

We have on hand some new Studebaker Little Six Cars—and will be glad to demonstrate these to you.

JEFFERSON B. WHITE, Local Mgr.
COX OR WORLD CHAOS.

The action of the Japanese government in announcing its intention to repudiate that portion of the League
of Nations covenant which provides for disarmament unless the United States becomes a signatory to the treaty of Versailles is nothing less than an advance notice to the world
that without an effective league no progress can be made toward a lasting peace.

The sovereign right of a nation to protect its national interests can not be denied and however adverse the feeling in America over the military
and commercial ascendancy of Japan
the Flowery Kingdom is but acting
in good faith with its people and interests. Place the United States in the same position as Japan now occupies as a signatory to the treaty
with the latter power at liberty to pursue a building program of unrestricted magnitude in her army and navy and the interests of the United States would be jeopardized beyond
retrieve.

The world has labored under the
burdens of military establishments
throughout history. This is a new day and the people demand that they be free—that no colossal scheme of conquest may be secretly abetted under
the guise of preparedness and feigned
menace to national sovereignty. But
to secure this condition all nations
must subscribe to the covenant. There can be no duplicity. Americans think
and have the right to believe that this nation has no secret plans for military conquest. But history presents many examples of governments
succumbing to schemes of conquest

by virtue of plots hatched out at the expense of innocence.

The position of Governor Cox as
the Democratic Presidential Nominee
is eminently well taken. It represents the big human issues on which the war was won for which so many of the flower of America's manhood
bore the torch to the death. Those who would keep faith with the men
who died are honor bound to support
Cox because he has championed the league as a covenant of the faith of those who died and will accept reservations to meet the objections of those who have been deluded into believing we were "bartering our national sovereignty."

Senator Harding as the Republican
standard bearer presents the most pitiable spectacle in American politics. That he is the candidate of the Senatorial power is beyond dispute.
He is drunk with the possibilities of succeeding to eminence and therefore
has in an effort to cement all discord in the party, assumed many positions on the league. Once when he broke away from the front porch he declared for rejection. Mr. Root has made it necessary for him to change again. He is an irreconcilable, a league advocate, a reservationist, or anything decreed by the cabal. In our opinion he is no more sincere in his stands upon the League than was Iscaiot when he placed the kiss of deceit upon the swollen cheeks of the Son of Man.

It is Cox or world chaos. The Democratic candidate is in the open. Take his politics or reject them, but be fair. He has the courage and conviction to speak out in time when plain speaking is needed. He should win because right.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE NOW SEEMS ASSURED.

"You can say to the people of Texas
that they will have plenty of company when they roll up their mammoth Democratic majority on November 2, for victory is now absolutely
assured."

The above is a message of great importance which Governor Cox sent from Baltimore. He meant every word of it. Democrats should believe in the man who uttered it.

Never before has a presidential candidate made as remarkable a campaign as has Mr. Cox; practically alone until the last few weeks, he has fought the fight of the party, until, by his perseverance and display
and strength, big men of the country,
as well as the rank and file, have rallied to his support.

Nay, some have been driven to the fold.

Anyway, Democrats are beginning
to sit up and take notice of their leader—and do not forget the Republicans are doing likewise, but for different reasons. Somebody's political fence is about to tumble.

It should be a pleasant duty for the Democrats of this country to help Mr.
Cox finish campaign. He started it
and almost had to finish. The spoken
word and the ready dollar will help
make the finish a credit to Governor
Cox and to Democracy.

Read this:

"Yes, and there is every manifestation of a landslide for the league,"
said Governor Cox in speaking of his fight for Democracy's plan for world
peace. Four months ago the Republicans were so sure that this was a cinch for them that a few members wrote a resolution to nominate a 'stuffed shirt' for the presidency and decided that the Senate cabal should take over that great office."

On every hand, optimistic reports
indicate the success which Governor
Cox deserves and will command on November 2nd.

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—It is with pleasure that we publish here this editorial from the Saturday Evening Post.
The editorial clearly defines the fundamental underlying causes of unrest featuring the bomb explosion
that rocked the financial district of New York. This is presented as an appeal to the business men and in defense of business now being unjustly attacked. It is also a strong appeal for more active participation in politics on the part of the business man.)

CASHING IN.

The bomb that burst in Wall Street in September was heard all over the country. The thoughtless, the heedless and the foolish—all those whose attention can be secured only by a loud noise—stopped to listen and ask: "What's happened? What's the matter?"

Nothing new or surprising has happened—nothing that has not been happening for some years now. We are cashing in on thoughtlessness, heedlessness and foolishness—and there are too many red chips in our stack.

For two years bombs have been bursting all round
us, undermining industry and attacking the foundations of the Government itself. The New York explosion killed a handful of innocent working people and destroyed a small amount of property. Those other bombs have killed their thousands and have wiped out
hundreds of millions of the country's working capital.
These shocked and questioning citizens, having ears,
but very little above them, heard the noise in Wall Street, but failed to hear and grasp the significance of the explosions that preceded it—the striking, the
profiteering, the slacking, the grabbing, the boring
from within and the hell-raising from without.

Now we are cashing in on our ignorance and indifference, on the demagogism and bolshevism that have grown out of them, on our failure to do our duty as voters and citizens. We have been too busy with our business to explain it, to defend it and to save it; too wrapped up in enjoying the pleasures, the opportunities and the liberties that America has given us to fight for them.

As a result, we have a generation of anti-American propaganda to counteract; a vast number of subtle fallacies that are being accepted as axioms to expose; a mass of lies that have almost become vested interests
to nail; a propaganda of hate and destruction to meet with a counter-propaganda of truth.

To assume even theoretical perfection for any human system is the sheerest nonsense. As opposed to the bad, the worse and the worst of socialism, communism
and anarchy, there can be only a good, a better and a best. Judged solely by results, for the pink, red and
and crimson systems are all in operation in different parts of the world, government on the American plan
—even though the service could be vastly improved—
is that good, better and best. But it can never be one hundred per cent good with a fifty per cent leadership and voters who are ninety-nine per cent interested in other things.

Business is the blood and the brawn of every nation,
Science works unceasingly to serve it and statesman-
ship to find new fields for its expansion, though too often blindly and stupidly, through physical conquest, mandate, protectorates and spheres of influence. Contending systems of government are at root contending systems of business. Discarding verdure and verbage, flowers of speech and dead cats of denunciation,
we find this basic proposition: A has worked, saved
and managed and acquired goods and land. B wants goods and land, but he is unwilling or unable to work,
save and manage for them, to secure them by a combination of skill and self-denial. So he demands that the government be changed to fit his deficiencies. If all the silk shirts and other forms of foolishness into which the high yages of the past five years have been put were now in saving banks the laboring man could buy a tremendous stake in the land and the industry of the country. But he who lacks brains to deny himself
and to save when times are easy lacks the brains to keep a business going, especially when times are hard.
It is much simpler to make a success than to keep one.

The country's business is what the malcontent is really after, and he believes that his prosperity is assured if he can take it over. So his attacks, no matter what guise or disguise they assume, are really on our business system.

Naturally in an affair like business, that has its roots in the fundamental struggle for existence, that
from its very nature engages so many elemental human instincts and passions, there are plenty of weak
spots, plenty of opportunities for just criticism, plenty
of openings for destructive attack. Considering the absolutely unchangeable motives and instincts that must always be at the base of business, we have less reason to wonder that there are some rotten spots in the system, some rascals prospering unduly under it,
than that on the whole it is so sound, so clean, so honestly and honorably conducted. There are many blind,
and incompetent men in business today, but they are
not half so blind, greedy, dishonest and incompetent as
the red leaders who would displace them.

Because so many people will believe anything bad
that they are told, because so many will believe anything that carries with it a promise of unearned gain
to themselves, because the world is so given to generalizing from particular instances American business,
that has on the whole functioned admirably, that should have the intelligent approval of the people for
the wide prosperity that it has brought to the nation
and their discriminating disapproval of the bad that is
in it, has been indiscriminately abused, blackguarded,
hampered and held up.

Because from time to time some men at the head of
big businesses have proved crooked we have allowed
the enemies of our social order to charge, and we have half believed, that all big business men are crooked.
Because in the past some of our railroad systems have been looted we have rather generally credited the continuing lie that looting is the sport of railroad kings.
Because Wall Street is the address of some unscrupulous speculators and dishonest promoters we have half
accepted the fiction that all Wall Street men are unscrupulous and dishonest. Because some of our legislators have been corner-grocery orators of parochial
mind and small-change experience, who never before
were able to earn so much money as they receive in office, and do not believe that anyone else could earn
more honestly because they understand little of the intricacies of commerce, and suspect and distrust everything that they can not understand, we have come to believe that size is sin and that what we can not do
is necessarily wrong or dishonest.

Starting in a small way a generation ago, this propaganda has been spread through radical parties and papers, through pinks and reds, and a lot of the stuff
has stuck, not only in the minds of the ignorant but also in the minds of those who should, and alas too often do, know better. The demagogue has found that we are all willing to attribute our failures to the machi-
nations of the "money trust" and our inability to make good in bigger jobs to the plottings of "the system,"

so in every sentence he builds up his bogies and calls
on the people to knock them down; the radical labor
leader has found in trouble making between employer
and employee a source of continuing place and power,
and so he tries to keep the pot boiling over; the timid politician who wants to hold his job has found that the way to hold it is to tell the voters what he thinks they want to hear. Corporation baiting has become the easiest way to an easy life, with the best baiter hooking
the biggest fish.

There is plenty of corruption and waste in business,
but the good—and it preponderates—should not be restrained along with the bad. Big business and little business, farmers and storekeepers, white-collar men and silk-shirt mechanics, average out about the same in human nature. But the tendency toward sound method is, if anything, more pronounced in big than in little business, because the former is under closer observation, is more stringently regulated and stands to lose
more for its sins.

This long campaign of selection, suppression and misrepresentation contributed to the making of the Wall Street bomb. The red and pink press, in greater or less degree, deliberately or unwittingly helped along
the work. The average business man does not see the radical press or the mass of red publications—leaflets, pamphlets and books. He does not know that tons of literature, printed in every known language, are circulating daily through shops, mines, camps and homes,
picturing him as a thief and an oppressor of the poor, and America as a land of slaves and slave drivers. The wording of this stuff is clever and careful when it has gone through the mails, but the meaning and the intent are there. The man in the street has been told, but only half believes, that the red borers are busy in factories
and mines and homes, working noiselessly and tirelessly to make trouble between capital and labor—any kind of trouble, for hate is the first lesson in red education.

Nothing was neglected that might contribute its mite
to the making of the bomb. The red leader is by nature
an opportunist, because everything that stirs up discontent, strikes and class hatred makes for his ends.
He is glad to have those who will not see red see pink;
those who will not stand for communism espouse
socialism; those who will not swallow socialism
demand government ownership; those who believe
in private ownership taught to parrot phrases like:
The riches are growing richer and the poor poorer;
there's no justice for the poor man; the corporations
own the government; the workers are wage slaves; and so on, though not a single one of these statements will stand analysis. The doctrinaires, the exponents of theoretical perfection, who have led theoretical lives,
whose idealism ignores the proved facts and unbeat-
able rules of life, are often through their very sincerity able allies of the forces of disorder. There is no ignorance so profound as the second-hand, experience of the cloistered man, no knowledge that is so revised by practice as that taught in his books.

We are cashing in, too, on our immigration policy—
our carelessness as to whom and how many we let in,
and our indifference as to where they go and what they do, once they are in. We have a tremendous job on our hands to Americanize those who are here—a generation or two of hard work ahead of us. Then what of these new hordes? Is there really any good reason for us to bring them in to help us exploit our rapidly diminishing resources, to pump out our oil reserves faster
so that we can buy more automobiles to burn more gas? To cut down the last forest to make more lumber to house more undigestible citizens? To speed up to get out more ore to smelt so that we can build more ships
to bring over more men to work in the steel mills? Why not develop what is left of our country slowly, sanely,
safely and solidly?

In the haste to get rich quick, business overreaches
itself and works toward its own destruction. Heretofore, one great source of our strength, one great bulwark of our nation, has been our vast store of undeveloped resources, our wide spaces of unsettled country.
In the crowded manufacturing nations of Europe man
lives under artificial conditions and with the basic processes and limitations of business obscured. Here we have always been close to first causes, getting out the raw material of civilization and seeing and learning at first hand the foundations and the inexorable rules of business. Most native born Americans who made their own way developed a saving quality that we called horse sense. It was based on a personal knowledge of first hand principles. The fallacies of the red, the false premises on which they are based, have no chance with one who is endowed with this quality. But it becomes scarcer as men crowd into the cities and dilute their old Americanism with the new Europeanism.

Something is wrong, insists the man who is looking for a remedy—and who has one all ready to spring.
Something is wrong and something always will be wrong. Radical systems are wrong because they are based on wrongs—wrongs that nothing can correct, because they are wrongs of distribution—not of wealth,
though there are wrongs in that, but wrongs of distribution by Nature, of unequal apportionment of brains,
muscle and moral fiber. The American system of government is based on rights—the right to equal justice,
equal opportunity, and the right to work honestly for anything you want.

Government is not perfect, business is not perfect, but
both are better than their detractors credit them with being, both better than anything their detractors could achieve. We need strong leadership—leadership that is neither radical nor reactionary, but moderate. One trouble with leadership, not only in America, but the world over, is that the men who have the best organizing and managerial brains rarely occupy important posts in public life. Statesmen and diplomats, whose first concern must be with trade, are seldom business
men. They are almost invariably members of the professional classes—elements that should be in the picture, but not the whole show.

Business must fight its enemies, but it must fight
with clean hands. War must be waged not only on the enemies within its ranks, whose greed, unfairness or dishonesty furnishes the radicals with their texts
against all business. Then the demagogues, the red press
and the whole crew of bomb throwers can be shown up
and cleaned out.

With all of its faults, business has more to be proud of than to apologize for. But it has been on the defensive so long that it has almost come to believe that there is something about building up a prosperous enterprise, something that is not quite what it should be about trade, something almost indecent about a big business. A loud-mouthed minority of demagogues, ig-noramus and reds have cowed business, crippled it
and put it on the defensive. It is now cashing in on its past cowardice. It still has plenty of chips left, but unless it takes the offensive it will cash in for keeps—busted.

(By T. S. Henderson, Jr.)

It is the duty of every qualified voter in Milam county go to the polls on Tuesday, November 2nd and vote for the Democratic nominees, county, state and national. The Democratic party, which is the party of our fathers, ourselves, and of our children, is being bitterly assailed. The hope of its enemies is that the Democrats will not go to the polls, neglecting to go to the polls.

This means that you and I, and your wife and mine, and our neighbor and his wife must lay aside our accustomed tasks for a few hours on election day and take time to cast our vote for the regularly nominated candidates of Democracy. It will cost some of us some time and money to go to the polls; but we had far better make that slight sacrifice than to bear the oppression of a republican national Administration, or the irresponsibility of an "American Party" County Administration.

The National Democratic Party deserves support because it gave VICTORY IN WAR, the state Democracy has given us EFFICIENT GOVERNMENT AND REDUCED TAXES; and the County Democratic Party deserves support because it has given us HONEST AND EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION AND THE GREATEST PERIOD OF PROGRESS MILAM COUNTY HAS EVER KNOWN.

The accomplishments of the party in state and nation are well known but the accomplishments of Milam County Democracy have not received sufficient attention. Do you know, Mr. Voter, that the present County Judge and Commissioners' Court have reduced Milam County's bonded indebtedness from One Hundred and Sixty-five Thousand Dollars to Fifty-eight Thousand Dollars, and that there is now on hand over Fourteen Thousand and Dollars to be applied on the Fifty-eight Thousand Dollars indebtedness? This Fourteen Thousand Dollars together with the proceeds from revenues to be collected this fall will leave our county on a cash basis. No other County in the State of Texas can boast of any such condition. The indebtedness which the present Court has taken up represents for the most part the building of our

Court House and Jail and this indebtedness has been hanging over the County for more than twenty-five years. Do you know that these same officers have built and are building more good roads than any county of equal resources in the state of Texas? Do you know that the other officers of the County have given us faithful, honorable and efficient service beyond the requirements and the expectations. These men are PUBLIC SERVANTS. They have served us well. You should be unwilling to see them discharged at the demand of a small group of malcontents, some of whom have had the opportunity to serve you and whose service, if any, cannot even be compared with that of the men they are attacking. These officers have done their duty. DO YOUR DUTY, not only by your officers, but by your Country and by yourself, AND BE SURE TO GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE FOR THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2nd.

MARY'S HOME

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"There comes John down the street. Oh, dear! I wonder what is the matter with him lately. He is getting more silent and sober every day."

Mary's brown eyes watched wistfully as a big, blue-eyed, straight-shouldered young man approached the house.

"Spring again," she sighed. "I thought surely by this spring I would be nest-building. John is earning enough now and I am so tired of the long days in the office, when I am just aching to be planting a rosebush by my own door."

The bell rang and Mary hurried downstairs and opened the door. She looked so dainty and shining as she smiled up at him that bashful John Blake's heart almost choked him.

"He looks so kind and good," thought Mary, who had battled for her living since a child.

"She looks fit to be a princess," thought John, who felt nothing was quite good enough, himself included, to offer the exquisite girl before him.

"Shall we walk on the avenue?" asked John.

"Very well," quietly agreed Mary.

Suddenly John stopped before a large gray stone house, set in spacious lawns and surrounded by an iron fence.

"There a house good enough for anyone," he said, soberly, "but it would take years to get money enough for a house like that," and he sighed. "Do you like it, Mary?" he asked anxiously.

She looked up at John, eager to please him, and bring back the contented smile to his eyes. Instead of smiling in return, he stared at her gloomily and said: "I knew you would like it, and it is just the kind of a house you ought to have."

Surprised at the dejection of his tone, Mary looked at him earnestly and noted the troubled eyes and worried lines on his forehead. A sudden thought came to her, and she replied thoughtfully:

"Yes, it is splendid, but what would a little thing like me be doing in a big mansion like that? Sure, I'd be lost in it, and it's not my idea of a home. I'd rather have a little gray cottage at the edge of the woods than this pile of prosperity on Rich Man's avenue," and she laughed gaily.

John shook his head doubtfully, and before he could speak she continued: "Do let us go over in the old part of the town for I feel so dreadfully out of place here. There are some pretty places on Willow street near the river, and the moon looks wonderful over there."

A pink color flushed her cheeks, and her eyes were bright with happy smiles.

From the old street they sauntered past little white cottages and big gardens, past green fields and woody spaces until they saw the moon smiling over the river in the distance.

"Oh, here is the old Dean place, and it's for sale," exclaimed Mary in apparent surprise. "Do you know, I think that is a great bargain for some lucky person?"

"I don't know," said John, doubtfully, yet looking with interest at the little gray house with its big piazza, its many windows and tiny orchard in the rear.

"See how it nestles into the ground," smiled Mary. "Isn't it a dear little house?"

"It's quite old, and needs repairing," said John pessimistically, but his eyes eagerly took in the cozy look of the place and his intent face showed he sensed its possibilities.

"Oh, yes, of course," agreed Mary, practically, "but a handy man with a little spare time would easily repair it. I can just see it with ruffled curtains at the windows and flower beds along the walk, with a hammock swinging on the piazza and a big chair near by. It would be profitable, too, for there's plenty of fruit and a nice place for hens. Well, I suppose some lucky couple will buy it," she ended with a sigh as she turned away and studied the moon.

John's face was alight as he stood staring at the little gray house, and his eyes were bright and eager. He squared his shoulders and drew Mary up to the steps as he said quickly: "Have you seen the rooms? Is it livable inside?"

"Yes, I went over it with my cousin a while ago," said Mary, indifferently, after a glance at his face. "It needs only some paper and paint, and the rooms are small and sunny, and do not need much furniture. It faces the river, doesn't it?" she said, dreamily. "How pretty it must look on a summer night when the moon is shining and the water all gold and silver and the roses in bloom and the place like a little gray nest of a home."

"Oh, Mary, Mary, do you really think so?" asked John as he gripped her hands. "I love you so, dear, but I wanted to offer you more only it seemed so long to wait. I can't stand it now, dear, any longer. Since you made such a home picture of this place. Could you love me and be happy here, Mary?"

"Yes, John," answered Mary as she exchanged a wise look with the moon, and with a happy sigh of relief snuggled down into the safe haven of John's broad shoulder.

BIG VOTE IS IN SIGHT IN TEXAS

THIS IS THE VIEW OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 25.—Joseph W. Hale, secretary of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party, today gave out the following statement:

"The active campaign which has been and is being waged by the 'better schools committee' in behalf of the amendment to the State Constitution in regard to taxation for school purposes will undoubtedly bring many voters who otherwise would be found on fishing parties or some other related errand next Tuesday. The women especially are expected to turn out almost en masse in order to vote for this amendment, in which they are primarily interested."

"The close vote in the recent State Democratic convention concerning a West Texas A. & M. college is not without its consequences on the general election. If the State convention ever goes on record in favor of such an institution it is certain that West Texas will have an A. & M. college. Since the vote of each county in the State convention is determined by the total number of votes in such counties for the Democratic nominee for Governor in the last general election, it is understood that West Texas will endeavor to poll its full strength in the coming election in order that it may increase its convention vote to the maximum and thus win their point at the next State Democratic convention."

"A recent ruling of the Supreme Court of this State on the legal effect of the party primary pledge has provoked considerable discussion by leading men on the moral obligation of that pledge and has quickened a sense of honor in many derelict democrats that will cause them to 'support the nominees of the primary,' which among other things, means to cast a vote in the general election for those nominees."

"All in all, the coming election bids fair to call out the heaviest vote that ever been cast in Texas for many years. While there is no question in the minds of anyone as to the results of the election in this State, it is rather difficult to forecast with any degree of certainty what the Democratic majority will be. It is predicted by Democratic leaders, however, that it will reach the highest mark in the history of Texas."

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, says a noted authority, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the day.

Mrs. M. J. Luckett of San Antonio, mother of A. W. Luckett of Cameron, has moved here and will make her home with her son in the future.

To neutralize these irritating acids, night.

To cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Hulls and meal sold for cash only, at Cameron Cotton Oil Mill.

EXHIBITS TO BE MOST VARIED AND EDUCATIONAL — BIG TIME PLANNED IN THE BAYOU CITY.

Countless exhibits of farm products, livestock, poultry, war relics, dairy products and scores of amusement features have been booked for Houston's Fair and Exposition, to open November 20th for nine days. The $10,000 in premiums offered the farmers within a radius of 200 miles of Houston has resulted in an aggregation of exhibits ranging from a fat pig to aluminum farm tractors entered by the largest implement manufacturing company in the world.

As the time draws near for the big fair and exposition that is expected to bring more than 100,000 farmers from Harris and adjacent counties as well as visitors from virtually all of Texas, those in charge working day and night booking amusement features calculated to draw both gasps and laughs from the most chronic grouch. Thousands of square feet of canvas will cover what is believed to be the best aggregation of theatrical talent ever to be brought to Houston. The big hippodrome show, a duplication of the mammoth attraction that drew capacity houses in New York, has been booked for Houston's Fair and Exposition.

The latest in farm implements and time saving devices for farms and rural communities will be included in a special section devoted to machinery. An automobile show will have entries ranging from the proverbial Lizzie to the highest priced foreign machines that are seldom seen on streets of Texas cities.

Cars loaded with exhibits are already enroute to Houston, railroad agents report. Special rates for passengers is expected to bring 200,000 visitors here when the big fair and exposition opens. In order that all might know and take advantage of the opportunity to see Houston's first fair and exposition each of the seventeen railroads entering the city have ordered posters placed in every depot within a radius of 200 miles of the city advertising the coming attractions. Nearly two score bill posters are now touring Harris and adjacent counties putting up several tons of pictorial and descriptive posters, and the management of the fair and exposition are adopting the tactics of P. T. Barnum, renowned showman, who once said never overlook a bet but put posters on every fence, barn, shed and house within a radius of many miles of the show place.

"Although we have our fair grounds well filled at present we plan to make extensions so as to get several score more exhibits in," J. S. Berger, general manager of the association, said in extending invitations to farmers to list their prize stock and poultry, "we want more competitors for the $10,000 to be given in premiums."

Women and girls will also be represented. Special divisions have been devoted to sewing, household necessities, products of the barnyard and countless other articles produced through the efforts of the wives of the men on the farms who make eating possible for the city dweller. Valuable prizes are offered in this section," says Mrs. W. M. Baines, director.

Houston merchants have begun their preparations for the thousands who will come here from November 20th to 28th and are arranging their best wares for the inspection of those who do not visit a large city every day.

"We want every rural community within 200 miles of Houston to be represented at our fair and exposition," is the statement of I. P. Walker, president of the association. "The farmers can bring along their boys and the products the boys raised. We have special department for them also and are offering prizes that will make them happy for days to come."

Announcement was made last Friday by Rev. Key that the breaking of the land for the new Methodist church here would begin today. The architect and the contractor were both on the site.

LARGE BODY BLACK LAND

The last in Texas that can be bought at the old time "stock farming" prices. I am cutting up into small stock-farms my splendid 26,000 acre body of black land and dark loam land located on the S. A. U. & G. Railway south of San Antonio in the extreme north part of LaSalle and McMullen counties. Farms on this land produced this year from one-half to one bale of cotton per acre. But I am strictly advocating DIVERSIFICATION, that is cotton, corn, feed and stock, nothing in this wide world beats it. I want homeseekers and to the right men I will give them an opportunity to build a real family home on a foundation as safe as did the farmers of the Central Texas black land belt, and just as good land, at low prices and easy terms. Small cash payment and as long as 10 years at 6 per cent. Positively your last chance to get $100 land at less than one-third its real value. Investors can double their money. Will take in some good property as part payment. I am going to sell this splendid body of land out quickly and will sell in tracts of 160 acres up. Get in your order or come and see me at once. Remember no more land is being made. Still have a large number of those good farm tracts in Atascosa and Live Oak Counties for sale. Easy terms. 50 acres up. Write for printed matter.

THE women should certainly be thankful for the automobile. It has given them a chance to see a lot more of their husbands.

II

But it has done a great deal more than that.

It has brought people closer together, given them new interests, swept away old prejudices.

III

It's had its effect on the tire business.

When automobiles were new people were willing to buy any kind of a tire. Now they're beginning to insist on knowing what they are getting.

And the more they insist, the better it will be for us.

IV

We want our customers to know what they are getting.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires—so there will be no doubt about it.

Whatever the size of your car, you know that the U. S. Tire you put on it is the best kind of tire its makers know how to make.

U. S. Tires are guaranteed for life, without any limitation of mileage.

That ought to mean something to the man who has thought about tires.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

MRS. W. A. GILLON

Telephone No. 341

AT THE AUDITORIUM

Last Wednesday afternoon the spacious parlors of the Auditorium Hotel was the scene of a pretty party when three dozen ladies gathered at the bidding of Mrs. L. A. Cottle to engage in a game of "42."

One parlor was decorated very elaborately in beautifully dressed kewpies hanging all around the walls, vases of Paul Neron roses on the tables and piano. The other parlor was like gold in Texas wild cosmos and marigold.

At high noon Jupiter Pluvius frowned upon the occasion. The clouds gathered and the pattering rain-drops caused many a maid and matron to scan the heavens with anxious eyes and think with sinking heart of the dainty gown and hat planned for the afternoon; but fate was kind. Old Sol leveled his shining arrows and put Jupiter Pluvius to flight, and the clouds gave way to light and sunshine.

The afternoon was glorious and the appointed hour found the parlors thronged with handsomely gowned women, whose happy voices and light hearted laughter made the scene a joyous one indeed.

Around eight white covered tables with a handpainted kewpie on each—the handiwork of Robert Young—the ladies gathered. Hand painted kewpie heads were passed and the game started.

In the first round Mrs. W. A. Gillon made the first "84", but at the close Miss Olive McGehee displayed highest number and was decorated with kewpie boys and girls, wee pacifiers, etc.

At the close of ten interesting games Miss Helen Flynn and Mrs. Hilry Stedman tied for high score. In the cut Miss Flynn won, but very graciously turned and presented the prize to the bride, Mrs. Hilry Stedman. The prize was a kewpie talcum powder holder dressed in net and silver.

Mrs. Cottle was assisted throughout the afternoon by Mrs. Fritz Farendorf, Misses Lutie Law, Jeff Lewis and Mary Lake Henderson. A delicious salad and ice course, consisting of chicken salad, fruit salad, sandwiches and iced grape juice. While the ladies were gathering the Ouija Board offered much merriment. It failed however, to disclose the facts most desired by the ladies—"Who burned the compress," and "Who will be the next president," and "Who will be the next governor."

At six o'clock the guests bade the hostess goodbye with merry expressions of thanks and good wishes, and will long remember the occasion for its many artistic triumphs and social joys.

FORTY-TWO CLUB.

Mrs. H. F. Smith Jr., was hostess to the 42 Club last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rush Thomas.

On entering the reception room, the clouds, rain, and darkness without were forgotten, for within we found ourselves in "spookland" indeed, which was beautiful and artistic in hangings of black cats, witches, grinning pumpkin heads, etc.

The shades were drawn down and a mellow light cast by lamps shaded in yellow shades with spooklore written on them thus: "Sposin the witches began to witch an' you didn't know which witch was which? Well, 'sposin'."

The other decorations were the most gorgeous displayed this season golden marigold and cosmos were used in the prettiest profusion, and on the dining table was a huge yellow pumpkin used as a vase and filled with marigold.

Four tables were arranged and the little son, Hilliard Thomas, passed score cards in keeping with the decorations, with pumpkin heads, black cats and witches. With a view of the buffet in which beautiful "84" favors were displayed it was not long until the entire party seemed "bewitched" and a continual clapping of hands was heard and a number of 84 favors given, all of which came from "Spook Land." At the close Mrs. Dan Tyson of the guests held the highest number, and Mrs. John Mangum of the club members.

Table favors were placed on the tables and in the cut Mrs. Jno. Mangum got a suitcase filled with candy, Mrs. Albert Triggs, a trunk, Mrs. W. A. Gillon a powder box, and Mrs. C. A. Dunlap a dressed-up kewpie.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in serving a delicious salad course by Mrs. Thomas; consisting of chicken salad, potato chips, crackers, and ginger ale, plate favors of pumpkin head spooks.

Guests other than club members were Mrs. C. A. Dunlap, of Los Angeles, U. S. Hearrell, L. A. Cottle, Dan Tyson, Miss Rose Rischer.

CAMERON VISITOR.

All these beautiful "42" parties call to mind a true "42" joke every Texan will enjoy.

Miss Elizabeth was down from Milwaukee spending the winter in Texas, and she became very fond of Texas' most popular game, "42." When she returned she told a friend that those people down there had a most delightful game, but she could never understand it name—that they called it "Fortitude."

SYMPHONY CLUB.

Last Saturday afternoon the ladies of the music club entertained in open session at high school auditorium. A number of visitors were present and enjoyed a splendid program under the leadership of Miss Winnie Henderson.

The following program was rendered:

Duet, Calif of Bagdad; Mrs. R. P. Jeter and Robert Smith.

Violin, Fantasie; Miss Olive Henderson.

Paper, Jenny Lind; Miss Beth Jeter.

Violin, Serenade D'Amour; Mr. Medsker.

Piano, Valse de Concert; Mrs. R. P. Jeter.

HISTORY CLUB.

The History Club had its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Denson. There was a good attendance. Minutes were read and the roll called. In answer different phases of the election were mentioned; some gave jokes, some cartoons, while others spoke more seriously. Mrs. W. C. Robins was leader. The program consisted of two splendid talks as follows:

Democratic and Republican Platforms, Miss Beth Jeter

League of Nations, Miss Winnie Henderson.

At the close Mrs. Denson served a delicious salad, wafers, olives and hot tea lunch.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Tucker.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Friday afternoon of last week the home of Mrs. Rush Thomas was again thronged with guests.

This time she, herself, was hostess to the Bridge lovers. On this occasion also the decorations and color scheme rerealed in the approach of Halloween. There were a few additions, one being the white robed ghosts, one on each corner of the three tables, standing stately and still, like sentinels keeping watch. After the games were in progress Mrs. Thomas disclosed the secret of the ghosts, and they were holders for salted nuts to be eaten during the game.

At the close of the games, table favors of Halloween lanterns fell to Mesdames John Watson, Giles Avriett and C. A. Dunlap, of Los Angeles. Mrs. H. F. Smith, Jr., assisted Mrs. Thomas in serving a delicious salad and ice course, consisting of pimento salad, fruit salad in orange cups, sandwiches and iced tea. Plate favors were red and yellow "devils."

Guests other than Club members were Mesdames C. O. Dunlap, S. A. Cottle, and Miss Belle Jeter.

BELTON BOYS COMPLIMENTED

The Cameron High School girls gave a party last Friday night to the Belton boys who came over for the game and also for the boys of Cameron High School.

Mrs. B. J. Baskin very generously offered her home and nearly one hundred gathered in a delightful social.

The decorations were red and white. The Belton High School colors. The principal diversion was a stroll party, riding in cars, and a general getting acquainted and closing with a treat of ice cream.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

In honor of her sister, Miss Jeff Lewis, Mrs. Giles Avriett entertained her immediate family at dinner Sunday. Halloween idea was carried out in the decorations and place cards, yellow and green and white. The centerpiece on the dining table was a large cut glass bowl of marigold and at the place of the honor guest was a beautiful Paul Neron rose. A delicious four course dinner was served.

The menu: Tomato bouillon, wafers, baked hen dressing, asparagus on toast, creamed potatoes, candied yams, peas, salad in apple cups, olives, pineapple cream, individual cakes; black coffee, cheese.

Those seated around this delightful home board were; Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Hearrell, Louise and Jack Hearrell, Dr. Elbra Monroe, Miss Jeff Lewis, Jack Lewis, and Mrs. Giles Avriette and two boys, Giles, Jr., and little Jack.

SOCIAL MEETING.

Despite the downpour of rain Monday afternoon a few of the ladies gathered at the Manse with Mrs. McFadyen and a very pleasant hour was spent discussing their work, laying plans for the future, etc. Mrs. McFadyen, assisted by her daughter, Jean, served pimiento sandwiches, hot chocolate capped with marshmallows.

CAMERON, TEXAS

Mr. Hefley plans to install a pipe organ and to give the best possible music.

A STORY

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Say, I'd be willing to wager that you couldn't earn one hundred dollars in one month, Ned Towne. You know that you have never had to do anything but call on your dad for cash, and that is some different proposition from earning it. I am ready to bet a cool thousand that you can't do it; are you game?"

The speaker blew a cloud of smoke into the air and smiled as he had a mental picture of the fashionable Ned Towne in overalls earning the one hundred dollars.

"I say, Grant, do you really mean that?" and Ned rose from his easy chair and perched on the end of the table.

"Bet your life I mean it; want to take me on it?"

"I know I have never earned a cent in all my life, but dad didn't want me to work; but I'll take you and I'll show you that I can earn it."

The other half-dozen young men seated in the clubroom gathered around and all the details were arranged. The month began the next morning, and Ned, eager to show the fellows what stuff he was made of, rose early. He hadn't the least idea what he could do for the first time in his life he scanned the want ads in the morning paper. One after the other he discarded them, realizing just how little he was fitted to do. But like an onus there was one thing that he knew he could do.

Bolting the rest of his breakfast he rushed out of the house and was soon in the next city. Once there he had no difficulty in securing the position. For, despite the fact that the man who had advertised for an instructor to teach his two daughters to ride horseback, was one of the "new rich," he knew breeding when he met it.

"Huh, what a cinch; guess I can get a job? I'll say I can." And Ned patted the sleek side of the splendid horse that was to be his in his new position.

According to the arrangements no one was to know what he was doing to earn the money, and although he missed the many hours of ease he had been having every day he was enjoying himself greatly. The two girls were good-looking, wholesome young ladies and learned to ride with ease and grace.

One morning, after he had held his position for three weeks, the elder of the girls wanted to ride downtown, through the crowded streets, just for the excitement, and of course Ned was to ride with her. Now it chanced that very morning that Ned's fiancée had asked him to ride in her new car, and on the plea of important work for his father, he had excused himself.

Fate, ever busy, arranged in a crowded street of the city a motor with a charming young lady at the wheel and almost beside it a fine-looking couple on horseback, who chanced to be laughing over the antics of a hurdy-gurdy monkey. Yes, that is right: Ned, Miss Sefton and his fiancée. Happily unconscious of any complications, Ned was stricken dumb when he found himself looking into the troubled blue eyes of the girl he loved.

Coralie James returned his ring with a short note that terminated the engagement, and all his efforts to see her were unavailing. At the end of the month he returned to the club with the hundred dollars he had earned, and amid the cheers of his friends he collected his thousand dollars.

And fate, still busy, arranged a dance where both Ned and Coralie were sure to go. All the evening Ned watched for a chance to approach Coralie to explain, but she avoided him. About midnight a dozen couples gathered on the veranda and someone suggested that Ned, ever famous as a good story teller, tell a story. A happy thought struck him: he would tell his own story of the past month and thus be telling a story and explaining to Coralie at the same time. A hasty glance told him that none of the club fellows was in the crowd, so, seating himself so that he could see Coralie he told his story, adding his explanation to her thus:

"And the young fellow did not tell his fiancée, for she did not approve of betting, and of course he had to tell her something about that morning, and of course she couldn't understand," and then, like all good story tellers, he had them reconciled and happy ever after.

After the applause and Ned asked turned to their dancing and Ned asked Coralie to dance. When she nodded her "yes" he led her, not in the dance, but to a secluded part of the veranda.

"Ned, dear, forgive me."

"Sweetheart, it is you who must forgive me," he whispered. "Tell me that I am forgiven, Coralie."

"Oh, my Ned, of course you are forgiven, and if you must bet then confine your bets to me. I'll wager two neckties that you don't dare kiss me in this light."

"Done—and you lose." And he kissed her not once but many times, and by the expression on Coralie's face she was glad that she lost.

Dangerous Reading.

"I say, Mirandy, that gal of ours is gittin' too much knowin' in her readin'." Do you know what kind of books she's bringin' home?"

"Law sakes, Jake, she only reads what her teacher tells her to."

"Then that woman ought to be ashamed of herself to let the gal learn all about them forin ways. Why, that there book was called 'Wimmin of the French Saloons.'"

REV. J. L. TAYLOR
INJURED BY AUTOFATHER OF DR. G. B. TAYLOR IS
SUNDAY.

Temple, Texas, Oct. 24.—Rev. J. L. Taylor who resides on Freeman Heights Sunday night about nine o'clock was run down by a car near the west approach of the Adams avenue viaduct and painfully injured. The driver of the car picked him up and carried him to the residence of his daughter, Mrs. H. O. Honeycutt, 1304 West Adams avenue, where he was placed in bed and a physician summoned. Injury to the side was inflicted, but how serious will require time to develop. Mrs. Honeycutt stated last night that the driver of the car expressed regret over the accident, and promised to call yesterday to ascertain the consequences of the mishap, but had not appeared at a late hour last night. Dr. G. B. Taylor of Cameron, son of the victim, was summoned and arrived yesterday. Rev. Taylor is 81 years of age and has resided in Temple for many years.

SEEKS TO AMEND ACT PREVIOUSLY REPEALED.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 25.—Absentee voting in the general election on November 2nd is not authorized by law, that privilege being extended only in primary elections, according to Marshall Hicks, Democratic leader and attorney of San Antonio. Mr. Hicks gave this opinion today after an investigation of the statute, made with a view to ascertaining how he should cast his ballot before leaving the State to be absent on election day.

Mr. Hicks declared that further investigation had convinced him that the entire election law passed by the recent called session is void. This arises from the fact, he said, that the legislature in passing the new law presumed to amend Art. 2939, Revised Statutes, when in fact, that article had previously been repealed by the act of May 26, 1917. The effect of the action of the special session, he said, is to hold such an act ineffective.

Mr. Hicks expresses the opinion that there is no provision of law as to qualifications of voters other than the Texas Constitution as changed by the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment. This view, as well as the views regarding the validity of the election law and the scope of the absentee voting law, is concurred in by J. W. Hale, secretary to the State Democratic Executive Committee, and other leading Democrats here.

This is the terrible Article 10 of the league covenant, which the Republicans are using as a bogey man to frighten American voters. Notice that it relates only to EXTERNAL aggression. Such aggression, that is, as Germany committed against Belgium. It does not pledge the nations to preserve territorial integrity to any government against any constituent part. It does not guarantee British territorial integrity in Ireland, for example. But if Ireland became an independent nation and a member of the league, it would preserve its territorial integrity against all outside aggressors. Notice also that the council shall ADVISE upon action to be taken. No nation is under obligation to act upon that advice. Each nation is free to accept it or reject it as it believes advisable and right. Even if the council should advise military action, it could not order a single man of a single nation into the field. Finally it should be noticed that there is no provision for action by majority vote in the case, which means that unanimous agreement would be necessary for the council to give the advice. Article 5 of the covenant provides that "except where otherwise expressly provided in this covenant, or by the terms of this treaty, decisions at any meeting of the assembly or of the council shall require the agreement of all the members of the league represented at the meeting." The United States would be a permanent member of the council. We would have an absolute veto on any advice proposed.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Farm Tractor

More than 100,000 Fordson tractors have been sold to farmers in the United States. They are helping those farmers do more and better work in less time and at less cost. North, East, South West—everywhere the Fordson has proven itself a money-maker and a real necessity to the farmer. Besides it is helping mightily to solve the labor problem.

These one hundred thousand and more practical farmers have affirmed the economy—the exceptionally low fuel and operating cost—of the Fordson; its time and labor-saving qualities and its ability to increase production. The Fordson was built to be the most economical tractor; it is compact and devoid of excessive weight. And it is built of the same strong iron and steel as is the Ford car.

Winter or bad weather does not hinder the Fordson's activities. Day or night—twenty-four hours a day if you choose—you can utilize the Fordson.

Only so many Fordsons are allotted this territory. Orders are being filled in sequence—first come first served. Let us have yours now.

There's a practical use for the Fordson every day of the year. Come in and have a tractor talk. Give us the chance to make a demonstration on your own farm.

FORD EMPLOYEES GET DIVIDENDS

WORKERS APPLY FOR $6,200,000
FORD INVESTMENT CERTIFICATES.

The Board of Directors of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, recently announced that the first semi-annual payment on Ford Investment Certificates would be eight per cent, three per cent guaranteed interest plus a five per cent bonus. This is at the rate of sixteen per cent a year.

In conjunction with the Ford Investment plan, the Ford Motor Company pays employees a yearly cash bonus which is based on the number of years they have been with the company and the amount of wages they receive. This bonus may be applied toward the purchase of investment certificates which are issued in $100, $500 and $1000 denominations. Certificates also may be purchased on the partial payment plan. They may be cashed for full value plus interest at any time, although the company withholds the right to require thirty days' notice in writing of an employee's intent to demand payment.

The Ford Investment Plan provides for employees to save their money, and besides it offers them an opportunity to share more largely in the profits of the company. That the plan is a success is indicated by the fact that approximately thirty per cent of all Ford employees are certificate holders; and that to date applications received. Between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars a day is being deposited by Ford owners toward certificates.

One interesting feature of the certificates is: "In case of the death of an employee holding a certificate, it becomes payable, together with accrued return, to his personal representative; at the discretion of the Board of Directors, however, the certificate may be permitted to stand and to continue to draw returns for the benefit of the deceased employee's dependents."

YOUNG MEN'S SOCIAL.

Last Friday afternoon some thirty-five young men of the Methodist church were invited to attend an informal social gathering at the Methodist parsonage. While the guests were arriving, jokes were told and a jolly half hour spent in this fashion. Then the doors to the dining room were thrown open and four tables bedecked with all kinds of good things to eat were seen by the men. They were told to go in and eat. Thanks were returned and then all fell to eating. The second course was good old lemon pie. After everybody had finished, the toastmaster, Rev. Key, called on several to make short impromptu speeches. Those that made talks were Roy Baskin, W. O. Triggs and Oxsheer Smith. After they had left the tables, Mr. Mack Harvey sang two solos, "Goodbye" and "Little Mother O' Mine." This was followed by a violin solo by Mr. Medsker and the last number on the program was a short concert by the Methodist church orchestra. The company went home expressing their wish for more of these social gatherings.

Now, she is a very sarcastic young woman, and the man who wishes to marry her is often much tormented with her ability to say things which make him distinctly uncomfortable. One night one of his friends and he decided to go to a picture house and there they saw a play in which the caveman stuff was exceedingly strong. Evidently that gave the young man an inspiration, for the next cutting remark the young woman made he resented.

He had come to take her for a drive. After getting her safely settled in his car and having placed a large box of candy in her lap he settled down for a pleasant evening. But not long. The young woman could not stand his case. She deliberately opened her box, took out a bomb, snubbed at it a minute and then said in icy tones: "Why, this candy is stale."

At first the young man felt inclined to writhe, but the next minute the caveman stuff of the movie darted into his mind. He did what he thought was a real rough act. He seized that beautiful box of candy and threw it as far as he could.

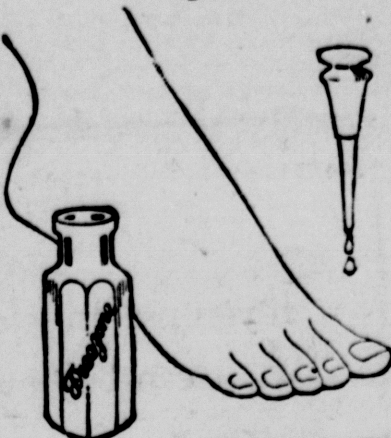

For a long time there was silence. Then the girl began the conversation. And this time she spoke meekly and in "honied" tones. She is still speaking in the same way whenever she is with him.—Indianapolis News.

Religious Patriots Write History in Bringing Christian Gospel to Reaches of Southwest In Early Day—Church History Told in Old Files of The Herald

Something big has come to pass in Cameron. It is something that represents more than the beauty of architecture in a great edifice whose spires reach into the blue of the Texas sky. It is something that cannot be told in the gray drab of stone or in the symmetrical harmony of architectural lines.

It is something big and enduring as the eternal sunset. It is something that the finest spirit and Christian impulses of more than seven decades has wrought in the crucible of sacrifice and of labor in the world of God. It is triumph blooming into the splendor of modern civilization because and ideal and a thing of spirit kept alive by the dauntless religious heroes and patriots who wrote their lives deep into the history of this republic. The modern church has caught the spirit and has carried on—has fulfilled the dream of a little church organized when the republic was young and religious freedom was limited.

The new church building to be erected by the Cameron Methodist church will cost approximately $100,000 when complete and will be one of the most modern and well equipped of the churches in Texas.

It represents the achievement of plans laid by a church with a vision and will express magnificently the progress which has been made by the local congregation of a great religious body. It represents more than an architectural triumph for in this new edifice is comprehended the Christian ideals of a religious citizenry whose steadfast labor has borne lasting fruits through more than seven decades.

The new edifice great in architectural design and of inestimable material and civic benefit to Cameron is much more a treasure for the inspiration it develops for religious activity in the city. With its modern design and equipment the activities of the church will be facilitated in such a way as to make progress more ready and church life more pleasant.

Construction of this building has begun and it is announced that work will be completed by next year. The pastor, Rev. Ira F. Key, has been in Cameron directing the church less than a year. His ministry here has won for him a large place in the religious and public life of Cameron. He is progressive and believes in progressive methods for the church as in business. Into the church plan has been incorporated many of his ideas and singular knowledge of the needs of the church.

The church building will be of concrete and brick and will be thoroughly fireproof. The auditorium capacity will seat over 800 people with a Sunday school capacity of 1000 or more.

In the woman's department will be a kitchenette. It will also have a very large Sunday School assembly room on the ground floor. One of the most modern features will be the movable stage for travelogue pictures. A picture machine will be installed in the church.

The men's department will be equipped with a shower bath and an athletic room with equipment sufficient to take care of a scout troop.

The building will be heated in winter and ventilated in summer by the most modern of blast air systems.

A feature of the church will be the music. An electric organ will be installed. The interior will be trimmed in quarter-sawn oak, including the pews and the organ case. This will be carried out in a beautiful silver ray finish.

All of the memorial windows in the old church will be remodeled and installed in the new church.

The balcony in the main auditorium will seat near 300 people. The exterior will be of face brick of the very best make. A portion of the exterior in the bottom floor will be of concrete. Art glass windows will be installed throughout. There will be two front and two side entrances. The wings will be of bronze. The building will front south in line with the Federal Building. In the rear will be reserved a space for open air meetings or for addition to the church.

The architects are Waller, Silber & Company, 507 Bedell Building, San Antonio. Mr. Silber, who was in Cameron this week, will personally superintend the construction.

Following contracts have been awarded: Heating Moncrief Furnace and Manufacturing Company, Dallas;

Seating, Manitowac Church Furniture Company, Waukesha, Wis.; General Contractor, J. E. Johnson Construction Company, Waco; plumbing, Geisler & Vosnig, Waco; Electric, Martin Wright, San Antonio; Art Glass, Dallas Art Glass Company of Dallas.

From the files of The Cameron Herald we are able to reproduce the history of the Cameron Methodist church as nearly complete as records are available. The following account will be read with interest especially now that the new building is under construction:

The Methodist Church in Cameron is a monument to the missionary zeal of this church in older states, and the work was begun in the days of the republic of Texas.

"Robert Alexander, missionary to Texas," was the appointment read out at Natchez, Mississippi, at the close of the Mississippi conference in 1837. In those early days of Texas Protestantism was an outlawed heresy. To plant Methodism in Texas was the beginning of an heroic movement holding a tinge of romance. Alexander Thompson of the old town of Nashville, Milam county, a faithful Methodist, is said to have approached Horatio Chriesman, the first alcalde of this municipality at San Felipe, an official of the Mexican government, and after a circuitous train of conversation, presented to the alcalde the subject of preaching the pure gospel in Texas. He gained his consent and thus the way was paved for the coming into this county of the first Methodist itinerant preacher in Texas—Robert Alexander. In his work he endured many trials. Some of his appointments were separated by a distance of several days' journey which had to be traveled alone without reference to weather or accommodations. He often stopped in the Streetman home, where they had a bed of extra length made especially to accommodate this giant soldier of the cross whose height was six feet and five inches.

The first churches were the homes of the devout and in summer the spreading branches of the trees sheltered the worshippers. Texas Wesleyan Banner, the first paper published by the Methodist conferences in Texas, contains the following description of a Milam county camp meeting held in 1841: "Many from afar spread their tents to shelter them from the sun by day and dew by night, using the hindgates and other parts of their wagons for tables. They ate their frugal meals, worshipped God in the beauty of holiness. Many of them were converted at this meeting."

Mr. W. W. Oxsheer, who was one of the charter members of the Methodist church in Cameron, says in his memoirs: "The Methodists early effected an organization in Milam county and the first quarterly conference was held in Cameron in 1847. Rev. Josiah Whipple, the presiding elder, being charge of it."

Cameron church was not the first Methodist church in Milam county, the Port Sullivan church being older. It is a matter of regret that the minutes of the church conferences held between 1847 and 1861 are lost. Hence most interesting history of that period can not be secured. From the Methodist Historical Quarterly and Magazine which contains a history of Texas conference for that early preachers in charge of the work on period, the names of some of the Cameron circuit have been gleaned. In 1847 Pleasant M. Yell was pastor. In 1850 John W. DeVillbliss, whose name was one to conjure with on the Texas frontier, was in charge of the Cameron circuit. Later Daniel Morse was the preacher. At that time Cameron was part of a circuit and the preachers did not live in a comfortable parsonage in Cameron, but only visited this church at stated intervals. Cameron did not become a station with preaching every Sunday until the pastorate of Rev. John E. Greene in 1885. A parsonage had been bought previous to this time. The house, which is now the home of Mrs. Frank Werner, was once the Methodist parsonage. This property was sold and a parsonage built on the present site during the pastorate of Rev. S. C. Vaughn, whose wife died there when the parsonage was new. The present parsonage was built in 1911 during the pastorate of Rev. A.

A. Wagnon. The increased value of the preacher's home may be taken as an indication of the growth of the church through the years.

It was formerly the custom of the Methodist church everywhere to be divided into classes with class leaders. The following letter copied from the old church class book will recall this custom now fallen into disuse:

"Dear Brethren—You will remember the Friday before each quarterly meeting as a day set aside for fasting and prayer for the prosperity of Zion and of us, your ministers, for Christ's sake.

"L. B. Whipple, P. E.
"J. Fred Cox, P. C.
"August 6, 1869."

The old church registers contain the names of some who have been accounted great by their fellows, but many more whose only claim to greatness was their goodness. Several local elders whose names are venerated for piety have been connected with the Cameron church. Among them are Jeremiah Nabours, W. W. Hopkins, Dr. J. C. Womack, Reverend James Peeler, Dr. Ed Martin and others.

The title to the property owned by the Cameron Methodist church was acquired in 1881. This lot was bought from Cameron lodge No. 56, Odd Fellows, deed recorded book E, volume 65, page 93. The first church building owned by this congregation was a wooden structure built in 1881 during the pastorate of Rev. J. H. Collard. This was removed in 1899 to make way for the present brick building, which was erected during the pastorate of Rev. James Kilgore in 1901.

Around this church building cluster sacred associations and hallowed memories but the most noted event in church history connected with it was the meeting here of the Texas annual conference which met in Cameron church in 1894, with Bishop Robert K. Hargrove presiding. The death of Rev. Joseph Whipple occurred that year and impressive memorial services were held for him in this, one of the first churches he had organized in Texas. Several of the bishops of the church have preached in the Cameron church.

Among the names of the presiding elders who have had oversight of the Cameron church appears that of "Robert Crawford," statesman, San Jacinto veteran and member of the first constitutional convention of the republic of Texas. He was the father of the late Judge John Crawford of Franklin. Following him came Dr. I. G. John of sainted memory, W. R. D. Stockton, L. B. Whipple, George W. Graves, I. Z. T. Morris, H. V. Philpott, Fred Allen, J. C. Mickle, E. W. Solomon, J. B. Cochran, C. R. Lamar, C. F. Smith, A. A. Wagnon, E. L. Shettles, I. F. Betts and George W. Davis, who has been returned for next year—1916.

From the time the records have been kept to the present day the names of the pastors of Cameron church follow: Rufus Y. King, J. W. Baldrige, I. G. Gilmore, N. T. Riggs, Oscar M. Addison, John Carpenter, J. Fred Cox, J. F. W. Toland, T. J. Hutson, J. W. Walkup, H. H. Sullivan, W. W. Henderson, J. H. Collard, James Campbell, S. C. Vaughn, John E. Green, C. R. Wright, S. C. Littlepage, Weems Wooten, J. T. Browning, George A. Leclare, Jas. Kilgore, J. L. Massey, C. J. Oxley, J. T. Smith, C. T. Talley, E. L. Shettles, A. A. Wagnon, W. D. White and H. C. Willis.

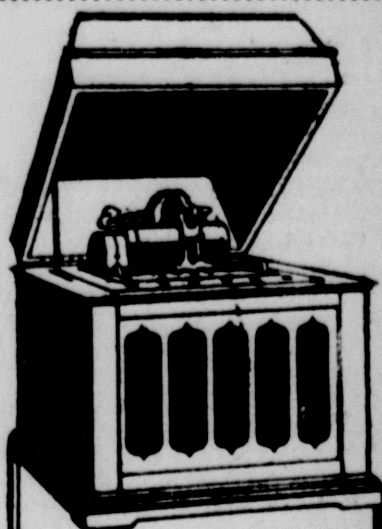

The Woman's Missionary Society is now a valuable help to the pastor in his pastoral work and the society in Cameron has proven no exception to this rule. Rev. Leclare first organized such a society in Cameron, but this lapsed and was reorganized into a Woman's Home Mission Society by the Rev. J. L. Massey. During his pastorate the society entertained the Texas Conference Society. The Foreign and Home Mission Societies have been merged into one and the present parsonage is a monument to the industry of this society. Mrs. C. D. Lay is the president and most of the women of the congregation are enlisted in the work.

The Methodist Sunday school is also a valuable adjunct to the church work. The Cameron Sunday school was organized as a union Sunday school in 1867 under the pastorate of Oscar M. Addison and was for a long time the only Sunday school in town. W. B. Streetman was the first superintendent. He served nineteen years and is kindly remembered in this capacity. He was succeeded by T. C. Safford, who held the office until succeeded by Rev. C. R. Wright. B. J. Baskin then served for a time. Jeff T. Kemp was superintendent from 1891 to 1904, followed by Walter Nelson, who was superintendent for one year. A. W. Taber was selected by the conference in 1905, and in —, R. H. McIntosh, the present incumbent, has served continuously and acceptably since November 18, 1907. In the Sunday school are enrolled more than 300 scholars and 28 officers and teachers.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have a pale, healthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

It is a powerful and scientific combination of sulphur and other healing agents for the relief and cure of diseases of the skin. It is especially effective in the ITCHING VARIETIES; giving instant relief from the itching and smarting sensations and by its germ-destroying properties it exterminates the microbe which is the cause of the eruption, thus curing the disease completely.

Little's Liquid Sulphur Compound is used in all cases of Eczema, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Herpes, Rash, Oak and Ivy Poisoning, also for relieving the annoyance caused by chiggers and mosquito bites. In the treatment of ECZEMA—the most painful and obstinate of all skin diseases—it is one of the most successful remedies known.

COX CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS; SWEEPS NEW YORK STATE

POST FOR PARTISAN PROP-
AGANDA—BETRAYS POL-
ICY, SAYS "JIMMY."

New York, Oct. 26.—After a 40-hour visit which his campaign fan-gler declared had "won New York,"
afternoon for the last week of his campaign speech making.

Before entraining for West Virginia, and thence to Indiana, Kentucky,
and Ohio, the democratic candidate
expressed "entire confidence" in the outcome of the campaign.

Throughout the day, Governor Cox
received the latest reports on the election outlook from his lieutenants
in the field.

In the course of the afternoon Mrs.
Cox announced she had given up her
plan to accompany her husband on
the southern tour returning to Dayton to await the outcome.

Just before leaving the hotel for
the Pennsylvania station, where the
special train waited, Governor Cox
issued the following statement:

"Propaganda is not effective when
it is labeled, but in the guise of facts
it strangles the truth and moulds the
minds into which it is introduced as
facts.

"I am just now in possession of a specimen of propaganda of this very sort. It is an advance copy of the Saturday Evening Post, known to a great public as a disinterested journal. In all its history its stated purpose has been to present the facts
and atmosphere of political situations
and to refrain from controversial positions.

"But the number of this magazine,
which is to be distributed next Thurs-
day, the last number before election,
suddenly throws off the cloak of non-
partisanship. For the first time in its history it resorts to the devices of
partisan editorial and insidious cartoons to create a sentiment for the republican ticket. In the cartoons I
am represented as a newsboy, invent-
ing false and sensational happenings
for the purpose of selling my wares.
My opponent is depicted as kindly
and wise. The impression is sought to be created that I am irresponsible;
Senator Harding grave and reliable.

"Why has the Saturday Evening
Post done this? Why has it betrayed
its mission at the eleventh hour of
this campaign? The people know the answer. It has done this thing because
its owner is one of the plutocratic
group which knows what it wants of
the next administration and how to get it from the syndicate which controls Senator Harding. It has done

the movement which has sought a
subsidy from the government for the delivery of national magazines. The Saturday Evening Post has imposed on the confidence of the American people, won by a long record of non-partisanship and has become a republican journal because the proprietors, who escape government taxes by diverting to it millions of their revenue in advertising, want my opponent elected.

"Those subscribers, who in good faith have admitted this journal to their homes all over the United States, will turn its venal counsels out of doors."

Most of the remaining four days of the campaign will be spent in Ohio, and next Saturday night the candidate will speak in Chicago, and close his campaign on the evening before election at Toledo.

To the People of Milam County:

I desire in this public manner to invite the attention of the people to my candidacy for the office of tax assessor for Milam County. I am the regular nominee of the American Party for such office in this county. I am 32 years of age, was born in Milam County, and have lived in this county all of my life with the exception of about three years. I have always been a Democrat and affiliated with the Democratic Party until the present year, but the policies pursued and the legislation enacted by that party in recent years has led me to the conclusion that it is no longer a party pledged to the best interest and welfare of the people, and I have, therefore, renounced my allegiance
Party.

If the people of Milam County shall endorse my candidacy for the office to which I aspire, I pledge them in advance that I shall bring to the discharge of the duties of such office a fair, honest and intelligent intention and purpose to serve the people without fear or favor toward any, and I promise you in advance that all of the property in this County shall be assessed, and that it shall be fairly and efficiently done, and can be done without the aid or assistance of any block
map of any other contrivance to be paid for out of the public funds.

Therefore, I have submitted my candidacy to the good people of Milam county among whom I have lived all my life, and shall be grateful to them for their endorsement and support in the coming
general election.

JOHNSON'S SPEECH CONTRADICTS ROOT

New York, Oct. 20.—In direct contradiction to the pronouncement of Elihu Root Tuesday regarding Senator Harding's position on the League of Nations issue Senator Hiram Johnson of California, in a speech at Hoboken Wednesday night declared flatly that the Republican candidate "will not take the United States into the League of Nations."

Johnson declared that Senator Harding stands for outright rejection of the League and that there has never been anything in his remarks since he was made the nominee of the party that could be termed ambiguous or misleading.

"The issue today," said Senator Johnson, "is the League of Nations as presented by President Wilson, which Cox says he will take the country into and which Harding says he won't."

"I speak of course, from the public utterances of our candidate and these utterances make plain beyond cavil that when president he will not take the United States into the league."

"He called it a supreme blunder. He instanced the war between Poland and Russia as indicating what we'd have been let in for, in the language of Secretary of State Lansing, but for the action of the Senate, and this Polish-Russian war he said, brought home to us the danger of committing ourselves in advance to causes we knew not of."

Joining a league with countries that owe us billions of money, Senator Johnson said, was "like a merchant placing himself in the hands of his debtors."

MILANO NEWS

By Chas. Howes.

Rev. C. L. Shelby filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church today.

We add a little bronco busting this Sunday afternoon. The horse was victorious, and threw an expert rider several times.

Mrs. Russell is better but still is quite sick and partially paralyzed.

Ild Faher Kirk at Hanover is expecting to get his U. S. pension raised. Everybody will be glad of it. Any old man who is old enough to have fought the Indians and served in the Mexican war deserves well of his country.

Times are getting good in old Milano. Wages about $6.00 a day, corn $1.00 abushel, sugar 12 1-2 cents a pound, and coffee 20 cents a pound strikes me as pretty nice. One young lady has bought a very good pony and has enough money left to buy a second hand buggy from twenty days salary in a small country school.

I don't want any of Senator Harding's normality myself and wages down to $1.50 per day. I prefer abnormal conditions.

The chronic kicking and dissatisfaction among the people is hard for me to understand. I am afraid sometimes the good Lord will send a drought or an earthquake or a pestilence to bring us to our senses.

Miss Ella Taylor, the freight clerk at the depot, is taking her well earned vacation just now.

Mr. H. O. Graves of Thorndale is in town today.

Mr. Louis Newman has lost another brother at Austin. Mr. Newman has the sympathy of the town. This misfortune following so close after the death of his son less than a month ago.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

GREAT TIME PROMISED BY THE CITY OF McALLEN—TO MEET NEXT JUNE.

Rockdale, Texas, Oct. 20.—John E. Cooke, editor of the Rockdale Reporter and president of the Texas Press Association has returned from Dallas where he attended a called meeting of the executive committee of the association Sunday. At this meeting the city of McAllen, Texas, was selected as the place to hold the 1921 convention of the association, and the dates named are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 9, 10, and 11th.

There was a spirited contest for the convention honors between McAllen, Galveston, Dallas and Mineral Wells, the first named two cities having strong delegations present to present their claims of their respective towns. McAllen promised the editors the strongest line of entertainment features including a trip to Matamoros, Mexico, a complimentary train of Pullman cars from Dallas and free hotel accommodations during the convention. Secretary Sam P. Harbon also has been advised by the railroads that newspaper men desiring to make the trip will be given cash advertising contracts of sufficient size to cover round trip tickets for two representatives from each paper.

The association officers contemplate the most enjoyable convention since the El Paso in 1916 when all records for entertainment and travel were broken. From all over the state come assurances to the officers that the attendance will be unusually large.

The program committee also met in Dallas Sunday and effected a preliminary draft of the business part of the program for the 1921 meeting. This committee will hold another meeting in January for the completion of its labors.

Rev. Shettle of the Brenham district and a former pastor of the Cameron Methodist church preached last Sunday morning instead of Rev. Key, who filled the pulpit elsewhere.

782,953 BALES.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The Government's cotton ginning report today showed a total of 5,712,057 bales ginned prior to October 18, and indicated that the sporadic attempts through the cotton belt to keep gins closed until the price of cotton advanced to higher levels had had little effect on prices. The ginnings this year aggregate 782,953 bales more than that quantity ginned last year up to October 18th, when the crop was 794,000 bales smaller than that forecast for this year.

On the Government's forecast of a crop of 12,123,000 bales this year, the ginnings to October 18th appeared to be about 47.1 per cent of the total. This is a higher average than was ginned last year to October 18th, 43.5 per cent, but lower than the average for the last eighteen years.

In the total of 5,712,057 running bales, there were included 138,554 of round bales, 14,312 bales of American-Egyptian and 340 bales of sea island.

Ginning last year to Oct. 18th amounted to 4,299,104 running bales, including 55,555 round bales, 8,890 of American-Egyptian and 1,792 of sea island.

Ginning this year to Oct. 18 by States:

GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA APPEALS FOR ACTION TO AID FARMERS.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 25.—Governor Parker today issued an appeal to the cotton ginner of the South to close down for a least thirty days in order that the producers may receive a living price for their products. The appeal was sent by telegrams by Governor Parker to the Governor of every Southern state.

"The one great agricultural crop in which the South has almost a monopoly is cotton," said Governor Parker, "and with a number of short

crops in succession and the certainty the world urgently needs cotton, it is almost criminal to force this crop on the market at prices far below actual cost, bringing ruin to farmers and thereby ultimate disaster to the spinners and actual suffering to those needing cotton goods.

"The question is a serious one and one which should be approached with that earnestness which the critical conditions demand and not from the standpoint of hysteria or lawlessness.

"Bankers and merchants should co-operate in his work which is equally important to State and Nation, to producer and to consumer.

"The present emergency requires the attention and co-operation of all classes of citizens in justifying the request for all gins to shut down for at least thirty days or longer if necessary, in order that the producer may receive living prices for his product and the great cotton industry not crippled or destroyed.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

RED CROSS DAY PROCLAIMED BY GOVERNOR HOBBY

NOVEMBER 11 DAY ON WHICH
OF TEXAS.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 26.—Governor Wm. P. Hobby, in a proclamation just issued by him, praises the American Red Cross and endorses the purposes of its Fourth Roll Call which will begin on Armistice Day, November 11 and close on Thanksgiving Day, November 25. The proclamation by the State's chief executive is as follows:

"WHEREAS, The American Red Cross, for thirty-two years previous to the Great War, and in the years succeeding, has demonstrated an unusual ability to assist the government and the citizens of this country in meeting and solving many community problems:

"AND WHEREAS, it is the recognized official agency chartered by Congress to carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace as well as to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, W. P. Hobby, Governor of the State of Texas, do ask and urge that all citizens, in recognition of the services previously rendered and as an expression of sympathy with the extensive program for relief which the American Red Cross is now carrying on, renew their membership during the annual Red Cross Roll which will begin on Armistice Day, November 11, and terminate on Thanksgiving Day, November 25th."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

It is a powerful and scientific combination of sulphur and other healing agents for the relief and cure of diseases of the skin. It is especially effective in the ITCHING VARIETIES; giving instant relief from the itching and smarting sensations and by its germ-destroying properties it exterminates the microbe which is the cause of the eruption, thus curing the disease completely.

Littell's Liquid Sulphur Compound is used in all cases of Eczema, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Herpes, Rash, Oak and Ivy Poisoning, also for relieving the annoyance caused by chiggers and mosquito bites.

In the treatment of ECZEMA—the most painful and obstinate of all skin diseases—it is one of the most successful remedies known.

COMMON SENSE APPLIED TO AUTOMOBILE PRICES

"Price slashing is not good business. It is usually unfair to someone," says E. A. Flynn, manager of Daugherty Motor Company, the local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"Either goods sold previous to a cut in price were not worth the price asked or the new price results in a loss to the manufacturer.

"The only sound reason for price reduction is actual decrease in the cost of production.

"If the price of an article is based fairly on the cost of the materials and labor that go into its manufacture that price can not be lowered until the cost of these two items comes down.

"There has been no decrease in the cost of materials or labor employed in the automobile industry.

"Unless a car has been over priced therefore, any reduction means a loss to the manufacturer—a loss that must be made up somewhere if he expects to stay in business.

"Neither in the automobile industry nor any other can a business be successfully operated at a loss. Such a condition can only be temporary if the quality of the product is to be maintained.

"If the present prices of automobiles are successfully maintained therefore, it will show that they are the right prices—for materials and labor costs are unchanged."

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

restores vitality and energy by purifying and enriching the blood. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney regions it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the bod's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediments, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

THE FIRST ROBIN

By NELL ADAIR.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

They sat on the platform before the little faraway station, vainly trying to veil their impatience. The girl in a modish spring suit, swung her shoes with their pearl-colored spats to and fro, as she perched on the end of a hand car, while the man strode up and down in his high-topped rubber boots. The girl glanced askance at the rubber boots and the flannel shirt without a collar; she was not accustomed to friendliness with men of so rough appearance.

But in this desolate spot friendly companionship seemed necessary to allay one's fears of solitude. Why in the world had Elizabeth urged her visit at this time when muddy roads made auto-riding an impossibility.

Elizabeth should have considered that the junction would be far from a pleasing spot in which to pass a waiting hour. It would be at least an hour, the surly station agent had told her, before the next train came in. Nora Dean had been the only passenger to leave the incoming car at the junction. The patch of meadow land before the crude station was almost sunken in the spring flow from the lake. Nora gazed dolefully out to where other car tracks stretched beyond. Presently the big man gave an exclamation, and stood still before the hand-car.

Nora relaxed her stiffness to follow his pointing finger.

"It's the first robin I have seen."

The man returned her smile and Nora saw that the face under the soft hat was a fine face after all.

"You might make a wish," he ventured pleasantly. "A wish made when viewing the first robin of spring is supposed to come true. Think I'll make one myself."

"Then wish," Nora crisply suggested, that the tardy old train will come along, to carry us out of this dreadful place."

"As to that," the big man calmly replied, "I'm not so sure now that I want to go."

Nora gasped and immediately returned to her former frigid demeanor.

"I was just wondering," he said conversationally, "how you are going to get over to the train when it does come without ruining those dainty spats. And your thin shoes won't be much protection I fear in a walk through the water."

"You mean," Nora asked unbelievably, "that we have to board the train over there?"

"I'm clad for the occasion, you see," he said smilingly, "so topboots are not always a disadvantage."

"Whatever shall I do?" she murmured, troubled.

"They can't expect passengers to wade through a lake."

"It's evident," the man said, "that neither did the officials expect this flood. And few passengers it seems stop off at just this spot. However, don't you worry, we'll think of a way." And, marvelously, at his tone of assurance Nora abruptly ceased to worry.

He would find a way, as he had said. She regarded the stranger's broad figure admiringly as he again strode thoughtfully down the platform. Why couldn't the men of her world possess this man's quality of inherent strength and power, she wondered. They were nice boys, the boys she knew, attentive escorts of polished refined appearance. She could fancy the incredulous expression of Tommy Brisbane's face, for instance, if he might see her now in easy conversation with this roughly clad chance acquaintance of a rural station.

Nora picked up the handbag and was in turn immediately and as easily picked up herself. It was not until the stranger had carefully deposited her upon the raised ledge of land beside the incoming train that she found her scattered senses sufficiently to say: "Thank you."

For surely he had saved her an uncomfortable perplexing time. The pearl spats were still immaculate and as the big man snatched the felt hat from his head in acknowledgment, he at once relieved her of his presence.

The unusual assistance has been, she smilingly told herself, most gracefully and thoughtfully given.

Nora upbraided her friend, Elizabeth, however, when that young person met her at the journey's end.

"Never again," she admonished, "invite me to visit you when I have to come by train route."

Elizabeth laughed.

"Why there are lots of interesting things there in the junction section," she said, "incidentally some interesting people there to meet. As soon as the road is passable Brother Bill will insist on driving you over to meet his old college friend, now the noted civil engineer who is putting through the big new railroad. He has a picturesque shack near the junction and Bill adores him."

And later when Nora, after Bill's proud introduction, stood looking up into the face of her remembered station-platform companion the kind, twinkly eyes smiled suddenly down into hers.

LONGER CREDIT TO
AID THE FARMERS

Dallas, Oct. 21.—Assurance that the Federal Reserve Board will cooperate with the farmers to the fullest extent by granting banks longer credit on cotton notes, was given this morning by Judge W. F. Ramsey, federal agent for the Reserve Board in the Eleventh District in addressing a statewide conference of ginners, bankers and business men here.

Judge Ramsey contended that the financial condition of the nation is as sound now as it had ever been.

"The Federal Reserve Bank will function properly in giving member banks longer time on cotton paper. Credit has been available for cotton as in other industries, and I see no reason why that credit should be discontinued," he said.

Judge Ramsey added that the Federal Reserve Board of Directors favors a system of gradual marketing of cotton, but that they would not support an ironclad rule of holding cotton indefinitely.

He urged the adoption of resolutions embodying the following principles:

Unanimous support of a movement to organize a large export corporation to establish credit and to market the cotton crop.

Combining of all activities to better market conditions, but to lend aid to no price fixing.

Inauguration in Texas of a campaign for greater diversification of crops.

Establishment of cotton warehouses to be maintained by the State.

The new motion picture house of Mr. Sam Hefley is rapidly nearing completion. It is to be one of the best picture houses in Central Texas costing over $15,000. The main features of the house are the balcony and pro-

half the length of the building and jecting room. The balcony will extend will seat many people. The projecting room will contain two high candle powered Powers projecting machines and the floor will be of concrete and the walls and ceiling are to be of fire proof material, making the room strictly fire-proof. When completed the show will be the pride of Cameron.

RATING PROFIT HIGHER THAN HUMAN LIFE

If a substitute is offered you for an advertised medicine, you can bank on it that the vendor is doing it for a bigger profit and rates profit higher than human life. One bottle of Mendenhall's Number 49 For The Blood will go as far as six bottles of the ordinary blood medicine sold in drug stores. It is put up by J. C. Mendenhall, a druggist of Evansville, Ind., since 1873. The ingredients entering into Number 49 are set down in the U. S. Dispensatory and other authoritative books on medicine as follows: "In the treatment of diseases of the blood, an acknowledged remedy among all schools of physicians. Removes the cause of disease by stimulating the removal of waste products in the system, thus encouraging nutrition. Disorders of the nervous system demand this treatment, such as neuralgias, headaches, constipation, chronic rheumatism and catarrh. Used with phenomenal success in eczema, sores, ulcers, boils and glandular swellings." Mrs. Fannie Thurman, 106 W. Ash St., Columbia, Mo., writes as follows: "I was run down with rheumatism, had nervous breakdown with stiffness and swelling of the joints so I could not move without great pain. I read an ad. for Number 49 and decided to try it. I was relieved with the first bottle and since taking the second the stiffness and pains have left me and I feel as supple as a child. I am sending you this letter as I think every sufferer should hear of the wonderful merits of Number 49."

IS MARTYR TO CAUSE OF IRISH
FREEDOM, AND VICTIM OF
AIN MAY HAVE WAR.

London, Oct. 25.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, died at Brixton prison, this city, at 5:40 o'clock this morning. His death followed a hunger strike of more than seventy-three days, eclipsing any in the annals of the world.

MacSwiney, who had been unconscious for several days, did not recover his faculties before he died. Father Dominic, his private chaplain, and his brother, John MacSwiney, were with him when the end came. Father Dominic was at the prison all night and did not leave until several hours after MacSwiney breathed his last.

John MacSwiney and the chaplain, who had been visiting downstairs in the prison, were told by prison officials at 4:35 o'clock that they should go to the bedside of the mayor, as they thought death was approaching.

The brother asked for the privilege of communicating with other relatives who were not present, but the officials it is said, refused him the use of the telephone. After the prisoner's death, his brother and the chaplain were not permitted to leave Brixton prison until 6:15 o'clock.

John MacSwiney immediately conveyed word to the widow of the lord mayor, who was staying at a West End hotel with Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, the former being the London executive of the Irish Self-Determination League.

Burial in Ireland.

Mrs. MacSwiney, accompanied by her parents and the Misses Annie and Mary MacSwiney, sisters of the lord mayor, arrived at the Brixton prison at 9:20 a. m.

It is understood arrangements are being made to take the body to Ireland for burial.

News of MacSwiney's death had not become known in the district around Brixton prison until after 9 o'clock. The usual large contingent of police was on duty inside the prison grounds to prevent any demonstration but outside and along the road leading to the main highway there were no unusual signs of activity. No civilians were waiting there as they usually did in the early days of the lord mayor's hunger strike.

It is probable the inquest will be held at the prison today after which the body will be turned over to relatives.

No Last Sacrament.

MacSwiney was unconscious for thirty-six hours before his death occurred, it is stated. Father Dominic, therefore, was unable to give him the last sacrament, but he administered extreme unction.

The cause of MacSwiney's death was heart failure, according to statement issued at the Home Office.

This statement is considered an indirect answer to the criticisms of Dr. Josiah Oldfield, the physician and publicist who had declared it was wrong for the lord mayor's doctors to administer meat juice and brandy. He said brandy was poison and that a man at the point of death was very susceptible to poison. Dr. Oldfield added that when a man fasted a long time the first food he could endure was fruit juice.

When one of the officials was asked today regarding Mrs. MacSwiney's absence from the bedside when death occurred, he replied by saying the restriction which was recently imposed upon the visits of relatives were urged by the attending physicians as vital to the prisoner's own interests.

On "Strike" Before.

Terence MacSwiney was 48 years old and was one of the most prominent Sinn Feiners. He started life as a draper's assistant, but became a poet, author and a playwright before taking up politics seriously. Later he became violently anti-English.

While in Wakefield jail, Yorkshire, in 1916, he met Muriel Murphy, the daughter of a wealthy Cork distiller, who visited the jail, and shortly after they were married, despite much opposition.

MacSwiney was elected as a Sinn Fein member from Cork of the British Parliament in 1918, but never took his seat. He was present at the first session of the Irish Parliament in 1919, when the establishment of the republic was confirmed and was elected Lord Mayor of Cork in 1920.

For various political offenses, he had been in jail with brief intervals of liberty since January 1916, and in October 1917, secured his release from jail by hunger striking.

As soon as the news of the lord mayor's death began to spread thru the city small knots of people began moving toward Brixton prison. The police, however, did not allow anyone to pass into the street leading to the prison entrance, keeping the people moving so that a crowd could not form. Fear had previously been expressed that the lord mayor's death might cause a demonstration at the prison.

The MacSwiney family arranged during the morning for the removal of the body from the prison to St. George's Cathedral in London as soon as the inquest was ended. The body will lie in state there until it is taken to Dublin, where it is planned to place it for a day or two in the Mansion house.

The death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was the first of an Irish hunger strike occur in England. Just a week ago, on the occasion of the death of Michael Fitzgerald, one of the eleven hunger strikers in the Cork jail,

the lord mayor telegraphed:

Feeding Too Late.

It became evident several days ago that MacSwiney was nearing the end. Up to that time he had steadfastly refused nourishment, although tempting dishes were brought to his bedside daily by the authorities. Both the authorities and the lord mayor's relatives emphatically stated they had not administered food to the prisoner, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary.

At last, after the mayor had reached the stage of extreme emaciation, had become periodically delirious, the officials began to give him liquid nourishment. This came too late, however, as the mayor has been all but dead for many days.

Photo International.
New East Relief Workers Distributing Bread to Newly Arrived Armenian Refugees in Constantinople.

The Constantinople district of the Near East Relief is wonderfully organized. All the bakeries which formerly supplied the Turkish army, under German management, have been taken over by the Near East Relief, and 20,000 loaves of bread are baked and distributed daily. Placed side by side, these loaves would make a line 280 miles long, for the five months that the Near East Relief has operated its consolidated bakeries in Constantinople, alone.

The Near East Relief, with offices in every state, is asking for funds to go on with this work.

Stolen from her home on the night before her wedding and imprisoned for five years in a Turkish harem, Aghavni Millian, a beautiful nineteen-year-old Armenian girl from Bitlis, has at last been discovered by her lover and through the assistance of the Near East Relief forcibly taken from her master and brought to one of the American Rescue Homes in Constantinople. Here she will stay until arrangements can be made for her marriage and her return to her old home.

"My story—it is like hundreds of others," Aghavni said simply. "I was stolen from my home on the night that the massacres first began in Bitlis. It was the night before I was to have been married. I was just folding my wedding veil away when the Turkish soldiers broke into the house. They carried me off. I— They took me up to Constantinople to the house of the man." She stopped and put one hand over her eyes, a hand that bore the tell-tale tattoo of her Turkish master.

"But what does my story matter?" she exclaimed. "I am only one of so many. It is my people and their future that matters. Somehow we must rebuild our nation and show to the Turks who tried to beat out our life and to the whole world that, despite what we have suffered, Armenia is still unconquerable."

Aghavni Millian is, as she says, only one of many. It is estimated that one hundred thousand girls are still held captive in Turkish harems. The Near East Relief, America's official agent in Armenia, is making this work of rescue one of the most important features of its program, and it is to them and the support they receive from the American people that Aghavni's unfortunate sisters, still captive, must look for their release.

WAITING FOR US TO SET THE TABLE

A table twenty-four miles long is plainly an extension table and that is just the length that would seat all of the orphans now being fed by the Near East Relief. This table is set in sections all over the hills of Asia Minor, Syria, Armenia and in Northern Persia. It is not in one piece. The Turks, who still keep the Armenians in a state of terror, do not allow it.

But there the table is, seated on both sides with orphans—Syrian and

The Table Is Now 24 Miles Long.

Assyrian, Greek and Armenian, Jew and Christian—all rescued from the fear of the Turk and under the care of American men and women.

Most of the children are cared for in 229 American supported orphanages. The first ceremony in receiving these starved, almost naked children, is to clean them up. They are not only emaciated, but dirty with sores and vermin—69 hospitals and over 6,000 beds are kept full of the little sufferers.

But the children keep changing. Last year they were all thin and pitiful; now it is the newcomers who are thin. The orphans who have been from six months to a year in American care are well fed and well clothed.

Best of all for a new Near East which surely must come out of all this distress, every child old enough is being taught a trade which will make him self supporting.

They are a thrifty lot, these little parentless exiles. From their scant store of bread they always carry a portion in a small bag about their necks—they fear the day of another killing, another drive into the desert.

They hoard the shoes sent from America until snow flies—they remember their barefoot pain in the snows last spring.

They cling to their new found friends. Every day other little waifs find a place in the orphanages and are told of the generous people of the United States. Soon the entrances will be crowded with children frozen out from their temporary summer quarters.

Then the table of the Near East Relief must be extended—many, many new leaves will be needed, and America is asked to set the table.

DID NEFF TELL THE TRUTH WHEN HE CALLED SENATOR J. W. BAILEY AN INFAMOUS LIAR

In the recent democratic campaign Mr. Bailey introduced public records showing that Pat M. Neff was born in 1872. In reply Neff denounced Bailey as a liar and a falsifier and claimed that he was born in 1871. To support his assertion the family Bible of his father, Noah Neff, was produced, giving the names and birth of all the brothers and sisters of Pat M. Neff.

The last entry in said Bible read:

"Patty Morris Neff was born Nov. 26th, 1871."

So far as my information goes, I have never heard that Pat M. Neff has ever specifically claimed that this entry in the Bible was made for his birth-date. Nor have I ever heard that he claimed that his original name was Patty. Nor has Pat Neff ever anywhere spelled his name with two t's (Patt). He swore in his application for place on the ballot that it was Pat, and now so appears on the ticket.

During the campaign the page in the Bible was photographed in Waco and later was photographed in Dallas and I have copies of both photographs in my possession. The first photograph plainly showed the name to be "Patty." The second photograph showed the letter "y" erased and the Bible now reads Patt Morris Neff.

The names on the page of the Bible as first photographed are as follows:

Edward Lewis Neff

was born Dec. 31, 1855

Charles Deyerle Neff

was born April 7th, 1857

Samuel Herbert Neff

was born Sept. 25th, 1858

Benjamin Russell Neff

was born Nov. 29th, 1860

Robert Shepherd Neff

was born Aug. 21st, 186

Sallie Jane Neff

was born Dec. 9th, 1864

David Leslie Neff

was born Oct. 28th, 1866.

Elizabeth Frances Neff

was born July 18th, 1868.

PATTY MORRIS NEFF

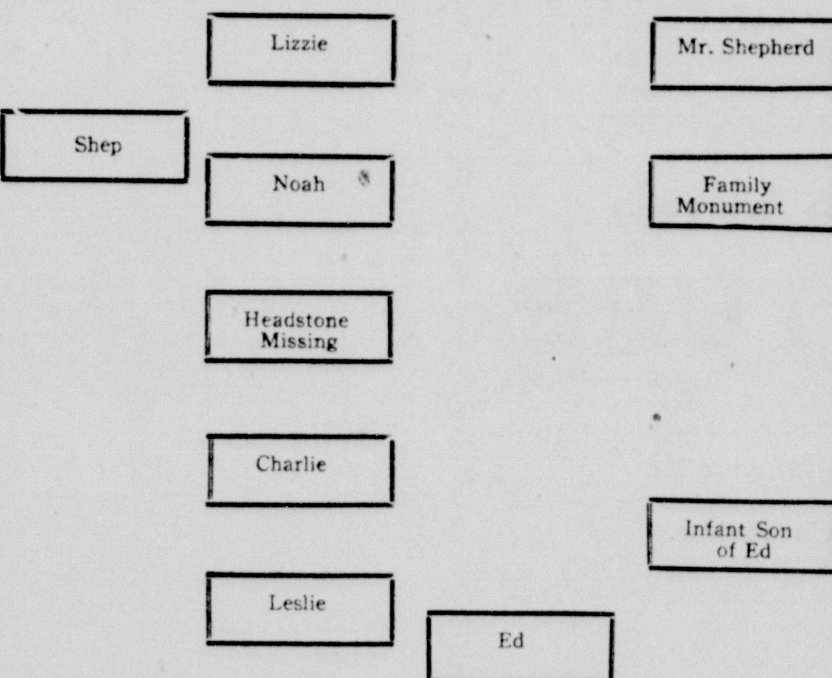

was born Nov. 26th, 1871.

Having recently been informed that the said Patty Morris Neff was born Nov. 26th, 1871, and was a sister of Pat M. Neff, and had died when a year old, and that her grave was marked by a tombstone in the Post Oak graveyard, situated about three miles south of Oglesby, in Coryell County, Texas, for my own satisfaction and for the purpose of getting all the facts of a controversy which had been the subject of so much discussion in the campaign, I, in company with a friend, went to said Post Oak graveyard.

There I found nine graves of the Neff family on one lot, all marked by tombstones and inscriptions on same, except one, which did not have the tombstone, but there remained a limestone foundation for the missing tombstone. I examined carefully said foundation. It is a limestone block about 16 inches square and about 10 inches thick (deep). In the top surface is cut a trench or a groove, some 2 inches wide and 12 inches long in which to fit the marble slab or tombstone.

Three of the graves in the same row, two south and one north of it, had similar foundations, in the grooves of which were small upright marble slabs bearing marks as indicated by the diagram printed below. While the grave farthest north is marked by a marble stone of different form. All appearances indicated that the stone had been recently removed. A large bunch of sedge grass about two feet high and in bloom which stood near the head of the grave had been stepped on and pressed so firmly that all the stems were bent or broken just at the top of the ground, and it lay still green, full length along the earth. Also the violent jerk or pull that lifted the slab out of the groove moved the foundation an inch or so to the east, leaving exposed the bare ground, while the grass grew close and even partially covered the other foundations. It was obvious that the foot of the person was firmly pressing on the large bunch of sedge grass and broke it down while tugging at the slab.

DIAGRAM OF NEFF BURIAL PLOT

By checking the tombstones against the Bible records we find that all the Neff children are buried in this graveyard with the exception of Benjamin Neff, who is buried at McGregor, Texas, (and I have seen his tomb there), and Sallie Jane and Samuel Herbert Neff, who are yet living.

The question then arises: "From whose grave was the tombstone taken?"

"If said missing tombstone did not bear the inscription

tion of something like Patty, then what was on it?"

"If said tombstone did not bear something like Patty then why was it necessary to erase the 'y' from the family Bible between Waco and Dallas?"

"Why would anybody want to remove said tombstone if it did not have on it Patty or something like it?"

"If the missing tombstone was for some other child of the Neff family, then what was its name and why was it not entered in the family Bible?"

"If the missing tombstone was not for one of the Neff children, then why was the grave put in the center of the graves of the Neff children?"

Mr. Voter, as I am a candidate for superintendent of public instruction on the American Party ticket, I will not make any charges or argument, but will leave you to answer these questions for yourself. I simply give the facts as I found them and as anybody else can find them on the ground. After I had visited the graveyard I immediately sought out one of the citizens of the community and had him go with me and I pointed to him the conditions as I have described and called his attention to the missing tombstone.

JEFFERSON B. WHITE, Local Mgr.
COX OR WORLD CHAOS.

The action of the Japanese government in announcing its intention to repudiate that portion of the League
of Nations covenant which provides for disarmament unless the United States becomes a signatory to the treaty of Versailles is nothing less than an advance notice to the world
that without an effective league no
progress can be made toward a lasting peace.

The sovereign right of a nation to protect its national interests can not
be denied and however adverse the
feeling in America over the military
and commercial ascendancy of Japan
the Flowery Kingdom is but acting
in good faith with its people and interests. Place the United States in the same position as Japan now occupies as a signatory to the treaty
with the latter power at liberty to pursue a building program of unrestricted magnitude in her army and
navy and the interests of the United States would be jeopardized beyond
retrieve.

The world has labored under the
burdens of military establishments
throughout history. This is a new day
and the people demand that they be
free—that no colossal scheme of conquest may be secretly abetted under
the guise of preparedness and feigned
menace to national sovereignty. But
to secure this condition all nations
must subscribe to the covenant. There can be no duplicity. Americans think
and have the right to believe that
this nation has no secret plans for military conquest. But history presents many examples of governments
succumbing to schemes of conquest

by virtue of plots hatched out at the expense of innocence.

The position of Governor Cox as
the Democratic Presidential Nominee
is eminently well taken. It represents the big human issues on which the war was won for which so many
of the flower of America's manhood
bore the torch to the death. Those who would keep faith with the men
who died are honor bound to support
Cox because he has championed the
league as a covenant of the faith of
those who died and will accept reservations to meet the objections of
those who have been deluded into believing we were "bartering our national sovereignty."

Senator Harding as the Republican
standard bearer presents the most pitiable spectacle in American politics. That he is the candidate of the Senatorial power is beyond dispute.
He is drunk with the possibilities of
succeeding to eminence and therefore
has in an effort to cement all dis-
cord in the party, assumed many positions on the league. Once when he broke away from the front porch he
declared for rejection. Mr. Root has made it necessary for him to change
again. He is an irreconcilable, or a league advocate, a reservationist, or anything decreed by the cabal. In our opinion he is no more sincere in his
stands upon the League than was Isaac when he placed the kiss of deceit upon the swollen cheeks of the Son of Man.

It is Cox or world chaos. The Democratic candidate is in the open. Take
his politics or reject them, but be
fair. He has the courage and conviction to speak out in time when plain speaking is needed. He should win because right.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE NOW SEEMS ASSURED.

"You can say to the people of Texas
that they will have plenty of company when they roll up their mammoth Democratic majority on November 2, for victory is now absolutely
assured."

The above is a message of great importance which Governor Cox sent
from Baltimore. He meant every word
of it. Democrats should believe in the man who uttered it.

Never before has a presidential candidate made as remarkable a campaign as has Mr. Cox; practically alone until the last few weeks, he
has fought the fight of the party, until, by his perseverance and display
and strength, big men of the country,
as well as the rank and file, have ral-

lied to his support.
Nay, some have been driven to the
fold.

Anyway, Democrats are beginning
to sit up and take notice of their
leader—and do not forget, the Republicans are doing likewise, but for different reasons. Somebody's political
fence is about to tumble.

It should be a pleasant duty for the
Democrats of this country to help Mr.
Cox finish campaign. He started it
and almost had to finish. The spoken
word and the ready dollar will help
make the finish a credit to Governor
Cox and to Democracy.

Read this:
"Yes, and there is every manifestation of a landslide for the league,"
said Governor Cox in speaking of his
fight for Democracy's plan for world
peace. Four months ago the Republicans were so sure that this was a
cinch for them that a few members
in a smoke-filled room nominated a "stuffed shirt" for the presidency and decided that the Senate cabal should
take over that great office."

On every hand, optimistic reports
indicate the success which Governor
Cox deserves and will command on November 2nd.

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—It is with pleasure that we publish here this editorial from the Saturday Evening Post.
The editorial clearly defines the fundamental underlying causes of unrest featuring the bomb explosion
that rocked the financial district of New York. This is presented as an appeal to the business men and in defense of business now being unjustly attacked. It is also a strong appeal for more active participation in politics on the part of the business man.)

CASHING IN.

The bomb that burst in Wall Street in September
was heard all over the country. The thoughtless, the heedless and the foolish—all those whose attention can
be secured only by a loud noise—stopped to listen and
ask: "What's happened? What's the matter?"

Nothing new or surprising has happened—nothing
that has not been happening for some years now. We are cashing in on thoughtlessness, heedlessness and foolishness—and there are too many red chips in our stack.

For two years bombs have been bursting all round
us, undermining industry and attacking the foundations of the Government itself. The New York explosion killed a handful of innocent working people and destroyed a small amount of property. Those other
bombs have killed their thousands and have wiped out
hundreds of millions of the country's working capital.
These shocked and questioning citizens, having ears,
but very little above them, heard the noise in Wall Street, but failed to hear and grasp the significance
of the explosions that preceded it—the striking, the
profiteering, the slacking, the grabbing, the boring
from within and the hell-raising from without.

ference, on the demagogism and bolshevism that have grown out of them, on our failure to do our duty as voters and citizens. We have been too busy with our business to explain it, to defend it and to save it; too
wrapped up in enjoying the pleasures, the opportunities and the liberties that America has given us to fight for them.

As a result, we have a generation of anti-American
propaganda to counteract; a vast number of subtle fallacies that are being accepted as axioms to expose; a
mass of lies that have almost become vested interests
to nail; a propaganda of hate and destruction to meet
with a counter-propaganda of truth.

To assume even theoretical perfection for any human system is the sheerest nonsense. As opposed to the
bad, the worse and the worst of socialism, communism
and anarchy, there can be only a good, a better and
a best. Judged solely by results, for the pink, red and
and crimson systems are all in operation in different parts of the world, government on the American plan
—even though the service could be vastly improved—
is that good, better and best. But it can never be one hundred per cent good with a fifty per cent leadership and voters who are ninety-nine per cent interested in other things.

Business is the blood and the brawn of every nation.
Science works unceasingly to serve it and statesman-
ship to find new fields for its expansion, though too
often blindly and stupidly, through physical conquest,
mandate, protectorates and spheres of influence. Contending systems of government are at root contending systems of business. Discarding verdure and verbiage, flowers of speech and dead cats of denunciation,
we find this basic proposition: A has worked, saved
and managed and acquired goods and land. B wants goods and land, but he is unwilling or unable to work,
save and manage for them, to secure them by a combination of skill and self-denial. So he demands that the government be changed to fit his deficiencies. If all the silk shirts and other forms of foolishness into
which the high yages of the past five years have been put were now in saving banks the laboring man could
buy a tremendous stake in the land and the industry of
and to save when times are easy lacks the brains to keep a business going, especially when times are hard.
It is much simpler to make a success than to keep one.

The country's business is what the malcontent is
really after, and he believes that his prosperity is assured if he can take it over. So his attacks, no matter what guise or disguise they assume, are really on our business system.

Naturally in an affair like business, that has its roots in the fundamental struggle for existence, that
from its very nature engages so many elemental human instincts and passions, there are plenty of weak
spots, plenty of opportunities for just criticism, plenty
of openings for destructive attack. Considering the absolutely unchangeable motives and instincts that
must always be at the base of business, we have less reason to wonder that there are some rotten spots in the system, some rascals prospering unduly under it,
than that on the whole it is so sound, so clean, so honestly and honorably conducted. There are many blind,
and incompetent men in business today, but they are
not half so blind, greedy, dishonest and incompetent as
the red leaders who would displace them.

Because so many people will believe anything bad
that they are told, because so many will believe anything that carries with it a promise of unearned gain
to themselves, because the world is so given to gener-
alizing from particular instances American business,
that has on the whole functioned admirably, that
should have the intelligent approval of the people for
the wide prosperity that it has brought to the nation
and their discriminating disapproval of the bad that is
in it, has been indiscriminately abused, blackguarded,
hampered and held up.

Because from time to time some men at the head of
big businesses have proved crooked we have allowed
the enemies of our social order to charge, and we have
half believed, that all big business men are crooked.
Because in the past some of our railroad systems have been looted we have rather generally credited the continuing lie that looting is the sport of railroad kings.
Because Wall Street is the address of some unscrupulous speculators and dishonest promoters we have half
accepted the fiction that all Wall Street men are unscrupulous and dishonest. Because some of our legislators have been corner-grocery orators of parochial
mind and small-change experience, who never before
were able to earn so much money as they receive in office, and do not believe that anyone else could earn
more honestly because they understand little of the
intricacies of commerce, and suspect and distrust everything that they can not understand, we have come
to believe that size is sin and that what we can not do
is necessarily wrong or dishonest.

Starting in a small way a generation ago, this propaganda has been spread through radical parties and papers, through pinks and reds, and a lot of the stuff
has stuck, not only in the minds of the ignorant but also in the minds of those who should, and alas too
often do, know better. The demagogue has found that we are all willing to attribute our failures to the machi-
nations of the "money trust" and our inability to make

good in bigger jobs to the plottings of "the system,"
so in every sentence he builds up his bogies and calls
on the people to knock them down; the radical labor
leader has found in trouble making between employer
and employee a source of continuing place and power,
and so he tries to keep the pot boiling over; the timid politician who wants to hold his job has found that the way to hold it is to tell the voters what he thinks they want to hear. Corporation baiting has become the easiest way to an easy life, with the best baiter hooking
the biggest fish.

There is plenty of corruption and waste in business,
but the good—and it preponderates—should not be restrained along with the bad. Big business and little business, farmers and storekeepers, white-collar men and
silk-shirt mechanics, average out about the same in human nature. But the tendency toward sound method
is, if anything, more pronounced in big than in little business, because the former is under closer observation, is more stringently regulated and stands to lose
more for its sins.

This long campaign of selection, suppression and misrepresentation contributed to the making of the Wall Street bomb. The red and pink press, in greater
or less degree, deliberately or unwittingly helped along
the work. The average business man does not see the radical press or the mass of red publications—leaflets,
pamphlets and books. He does not know that tons of literature, printed in every known language, are circulating daily through shops, mines, camps and homes,
picturing him as a thief and an oppressor of the poor,
and America as a land of slaves and slave drivers. The wording of this stuff is clever and careful when it has gone through the mails, but the meaning and the intent
are there. The man in the street has been told, but only half believes, that the red borers are busy in factories
and mines and homes, working noiselessly and tirelessly to make trouble between capital and labor—any kind of trouble, for hate is the first lesson in red education.

Nothing was neglected that might contribute its mite
to the making of the bomb. The red leader is by nature
an opportunist, because everything that stirs up discontent, strikes and class hatred makes for his ends.
He is glad to have those who will not see red see pink;
those who will not stand for communism espouse
socialism; those who will not swallow socialism
demand government ownership; those who believe
in private ownership taught to parrot phrases like:
The riches are growing richer and the poor poorer;
there's no justice for the poor man; the corporations
own the government; the workers are wage slaves; and so on, though not a single one of these statements will stand analysis. The doctrinaires, the exponents of theoretical perfection, who have led theoretical lives,
whose idealism ignores the proved facts and unbeat-
able rules of life, are often through their very sincerity able allies of the forces of disorder. There is no ignorance so profound as the second-hand experience of
the cloistered man, no knowledge that is so revised by practice as that taught in his books.

We are cashing in, too, on our immigration policy—
our carelessness as to whom and how many we let in,
and our indifference as to where they go and what they do, once they are in. We have a tremendous job on our hands to Americanize those who are here—a generation or two of hard work ahead of us. Then what of these new hordes? Is there really any good reason for us to bring them in to help us exploit our rapidly diminishing resources, to pump out our oil reserves faster
so that we can buy more automobiles to burn more
gas? To cut down the last forest to make more lumber,
to house more undigestible citizens? To speed up to get out more ore to smelt so that we can build more ships
to bring over more men to work in the steel mills? Why not develop what is left of our country slowly, sanely,
safely and solidly?

In the haste to get rich quick, business overreaches
itself and works toward its own destruction. Heretofore, one great source of our strength, one great bulwark of our nation, has been our vast store of undeveloped resources, our wide spaces of unsettled country.
In the crowded manufacturing nations of Europe man
lives under artificial conditions and with the basic processes and limitations of business obscured. Here we have always been close to first causes, getting out the
raw material of civilization and seeing and learning at
first hand the foundations and the inexorable rules of business. Most native born Americans who made their own way developed a saving quality that we called horse sense. It was based on a personal knowledge of first hand principles. The fallacies of the red, the false premises on which they are based, have no chance with one who is endowed with this quality. But it becomes scarcer as men crowd into the cities and dilute their old Americanism with the new Europeanism.

Something is wrong, insists the man who is looking for a remedy—and who has one all ready to spring.
Something is wrong and something always will be wrong. Radical systems are wrong because they are based on wrongs—wrongs that nothing can correct, because they are wrongs of distribution—not of wealth,
though there are wrongs in that, but wrongs of distribution by Nature, of unequal apportionment of brains,
muscle and moral fiber. The American system of government is based on rights—the right to equal justice,
equal opportunity, and the right to work honestly for
anything you want.

Government is not perfect, business is not perfect, but
both are better than their detractors credit them with
being, both better than anything their detractors could achieve. We need strong leadership—leadership that
is neither radical nor reactionary, but moderate. One trouble with leadership, not only in America, but the world over, is that the men who have the best organizing and managerial brains rarely occupy important
posts in public life. Statesmen and diplomats, whose first concern must be with trade, are seldom business
men. They are almost invariably members of the professional classes—elements that should be in the picture, but not the whole show.

Business must fight its enemies, but it must fight
with clean hands. War must be waged not only on the enemies within its ranks, whose greed, unfairness or
dishonesty furnishes the radicals with their texts
against all business. Then the demagogues, the red press
and the whole crew of bomb throwers can be shown up
and cleaned out.

With all of its faults, business has more to be proud of than to apologize for. But it has been on the defensive so long that it has almost come to believe that there is something about building up a prosperous enterprise, something that is not quite what it should be about trade, something almost indecent about a big business. A loud-mouthed minority of demagogues, ig-
noramus and reds have cowed business, crippled it
and put it on the defensive. It is now cashing in on its past cowardice. It still has plenty of chips left, but unless it takes the offensive it will cash in for keeps—
busted.

(By T. S. Henderson, Jr.)

It is the duty of every qualified voter in Milam county to go to the polls on Tuesday, November 2nd and vote for the Democratic nominees, county, state and national. The Democratic party, which is the party of our fathers, ourselves, and of our children, is being bitterly assailed. The hope of its enemies is that the Democrats will not go to the polls, neglecting to go to the polls.

This means that you and I, and your wife and mine, and our neighbor and his wife must lay aside our accustomed tasks for a few hours on election day and take time to cast our vote for the regularly nominated candidates of Democracy. It will cost some of us some time and money to go to the polls; but we had far better make that slight sacrifice than to hear the oppression of a republican national Administration, or the irresponsibility of an "American Party" County Administration.

The National Democratic Party deserves support because it gave VICTORY IN WAR, the state Democracy has given us EFFICIENT GOVERNMENT AND REDUCED TAXES; and the County Democratic Party deserves support because it has given us HONEST AND EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION AND THE GREATEST PERIOD OF PROGRESS MILAM COUNTY HAS EVER KNOWN.

The accomplishments of the party in state and nation are well known but the accomplishments of Milam County Democracy have not received sufficient attention. Do you know, Mr. Voter, that the present County Judge and Commissioners' Court have reduced Milam County's bonded indebtedness from One Hundred and Sixty-five Thousand Dollars to Fifty-eight Thousand Dollars, and that there is now on hand over Fourteen Thousand Dollars to be applied on the Fifty-eight Thousand Dollars indebtedness? This Fourteen Thousand Dollars together with the proceeds from revenues to be collected this fall will leave our county on a cash basis. No other County in the State of Texas can boast of any such condition. The indebtedness which the present Court has taken up represents for the most part the building of our

Court House and Jail and this indebtedness has been hanging over the County for more than twenty-five years. Do you know that these same officers have built and are building more good roads than any county of equal resources in the state of Texas? Do you know that the other officers of the County have given us faithful, honorable and efficient service beyond the requirements and the expectations. These men are PUBLIC SERVANTS. They have served us well. You should be unwilling to see them discharged at the demand of a small group of malcontents, some of whom have had the opportunity to serve you and whose service, if any, cannot even be compared with that of the men they are attacking. These officers have done their duty. DO YOUR DUTY, not only by your officers, but by your Country and by yourself, AND BE SURE TO GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE FOR THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2nd.

AGED NEGRO DIES FROM WOOD ALCOHOL POISONING

Henry Clay is dead—an aged negro believed to have come to Cameron from some of the Southern counties. He died on last Sunday from poisoning caused by drinking wood alcohol. He was buried Monday following an inquest held by Justice J. M. Ralston.

He is believed to have been in Cameron for the past five weeks and efforts to find relatives were made. The funeral expense was borne by local was about sixty-five years of age and citizen. Justice Ralston declares he weighed about 175 pounds. Relatives may get in touch with Justice Ralston for further particulars.

METHODISTS HOLD MINERVA MEETING

A group meeting, one of the series of such meetings being held under the auspices of the local conference was conducted in Minerva Methodist church last Sunday. The local pastor Rev. Ira F. Key accompanied by a good number of the local members spent the day with the Minerva church.

The purpose of the meeting was to revive the church and to encourage carrying out of the financial program of the conference.

Rev. E. L. Shettles, presiding elder, of the Brenham district and former pastor of the Cameron Methodist church, preached here Sunday in the absence of Rev. Key.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

GREAT VALUES

IN MEN'S OVERCOATS

It would be rather hard to give you a real idea of the worthiness of these overcoats. You have to see them to appreciate that. The low price may mislead you. Yet when you see they are made of warm woolly overcoating, in desirable patterns and colorings, and in the newest styles, you will understand why we say the values are "great." Single and double-breasted styles, ulsters and ulsterettes. Overcoats for men of all proportions as well as young fellows.

Here's a Chance to get An Extra Suit

Every man and young man knows the value of having one or more "extra" Suits. Here is an opportunity to get one—an extra good one. Even men, who had thought they would get along without another Suit, can profit by taking advantage of these values.

The price is low. When you see the splendid fabrics and careful workmanship, you will say the price is very low. Included are men's and young men's models in single and double breasted styles.

MARY'S HOME

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"There comes John down the street. Oh, dear! I wonder what is the matter with him lately. He is getting more silent and sober every day."

Mary's brown eyes watched wistfully as a big, blue-eyed, straight-shouldered young man approached the house.

"Spring again," she sighed. "I thought surely by this spring I would be nest-building. John is earning enough now and I am so tired of the long days in the office, when I am just aching to be planting a rosebush by my own door."

The bell rang and Mary hurried downstairs and opened the door. She looked so dainty and shining as she smiled up at him that bashful John Blake's heart almost choked him.

"He looks so kind and good," thought Mary, who had battled for her living since a child.

"She looks fit to be a princess," thought John, who felt nothing was quite good enough, himself included, to offer the exquisite girl before him.

"Shall we walk on the avenue?" asked John.

"Very well," quietly agreed Mary.

Suddenly John stopped before a large gray stone house, set in spacious lawns and surrounded by an iron fence.

"There a house good enough for anyone," he said, soberly, "but it would take years to get money enough for a house like that," and he sighed. "Do you like it, Mary?" he asked anxiously.

She looked up at John, eager to please him, and bring back the contented smile to his eyes. Instead of smiling in return, he stared at her gloomily and said: "I knew you would like it, and it is just the kind of a house you ought to have."

Surprised at the dejection of his tone, Mary looked at him earnestly and noted the troubled eyes and worried lines on his forehead. A sudden thought came to her, and she replied thoughtfully:

"Yes, it is splendid, but what would a little thing like me be doing in a big mansion like that? Sure, I'd be lost in it, and it's not my idea of a home. I'd rather have a little gray cottage at the edge of the woods than this pile of prosperity on Rich Man's avenue," and she laughed gaily.

John shook his head doubtfully, and before he could speak she continued:

"Do let us go over in the old part of the town for I feel so dreadfully out of place here. There are some pretty places on Willow street near the river, and the moon looks wonderful over there."

A pink color flushed her cheeks, and her eyes were bright with happy sparkles.

From the old street they sauntered past little white cottages and big gardens, past green fields and woody spaces until they saw the moon smiling over the river in the distance.

"Oh, here is the old Dean place, and it's for sale," exclaimed Mary in apparent surprise. "Do you know, I think that is a great bargain for some lucky person?"

"I don't know," said John, doubtfully, yet looking with interest at the little gray house with its big piazza, its many windows and tiny orchard in the rear.

"See how it nestles into the ground," smiled Mary. "Isn't it a dear little house?"

"It's quite old, and needs repairing," said John pessimistically, but his eyes eagerly took in the cozy look of the place and his intent face showed he sensed its possibilities.

"Oh, yes, of course," agreed Mary, practically, "but a handy man with a little spare time would easily repair it. I can just see it with ruffled curtains at the windows and flower beds along the walk, with a hammock swinging on the piazza and a big chair near by. It would be profitable, too, for there's plenty of fruit and a nice place for hens. Well, I suppose some lucky couple will buy it," she ended with a sigh as she turned away and studied the moon.

John's face was alight as he stood staring at the little gray house, and his eyes were bright and eager. He squared his shoulders and drew Mary up to the steps as he said quickly: "Have you seen the rooms? Is it livable inside?"

"Yes, I went over it with my cousin a while ago," said Mary, indifferently, after a glance at his face. "It needs only some paper and paint, and the rooms are small and sunny, and do not need much furniture. It faces the river, doesn't it?" she said, dreamily. "How pretty it must look on a summer night when the moon is shining and the water all gold and silver and the roses in bloom and the place like a little gray nest of a home."

"Oh, Mary, Mary, do you really think so?" asked John as he gripped her hands. "I love you so, dear, but I wanted to offer you more only it seemed so long to wait. I can't stand it now, dear, any longer. Since you made such a home picture of this place. Could you love me and be happy here, Mary?"

"Yes, John," answered Mary as she exchanged a wise look with the moon, and with a happy sigh of relief snuggled down into the safe haven of John's broad shoulder.

BIG VOTE IS IN SIGHT IN TEXAS

THIS IS THE VIEW OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 25.—Joseph W. Hale, secretary of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party, today gave out the following statement:

"The active campaign which has been and is being waged by the 'better schools committee' in behalf of the amendment to the State Constitution in regard to taxation for school purposes will undoubtedly bring many voters who otherwise would be found on fishing parties or some other related errand next Tuesday. The women especially are expected to turn out almost en masse in order to vote for this amendment, in which they are primarily interested."

"The close vote in the recent State Democratic convention concerning a West Texas A. & M. college is not without its consequences on the general election. If the State convention ever goes on record in favor of such an institution it is certain that West Texas will have an A. & M. college. Since the vote of each county in the State convention is determined by the total number of votes in such counties for the Democratic nominee for Governor in the last general election, it is understood that West Texas will endeavor to poll its full strength in the coming election in order that it may increase its convention vote to the maximum and thus win their point at the next State Democratic convention."

"A recent ruling of the Supreme Court of this State on the legal effect of the party primary pledge has provoked considerable discussion by leading men on the moral obligation of that pledge and has quickened a sense of honor in many derelict democrats that will cause them to support the nominees of the primary," which among other things, means to cast a vote in the general election for those nominees."

"All in all, the coming election bids fair to call out the heaviest vote that ever been cast in Texas for many years. While there is no question in the minds of anyone as to the results of the election in this State, it is rather difficult to forecast with any degree of certainty what the Democratic majority will be. It is predicted by Democratic leaders, however, that it will reach the highest mark in the history of Texas."

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, says a noted authority, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the day. Mrs. M. J. Luckett of San Antonio, mother of A. W. Luckett of Cameron, has moved here and will make her home with her son in the future.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Countless exhibits of farm products, livestock, poultry, war relics, dairy products and scores of amusement features have been booked for Houston's Fair and Exposition, to open November 20th for nine days. The $10,000 in premiums offered the farmers within a radius of 200 miles of Houston has resulted in an aggregation of exhibits ranging from a fat pig to aluminum farm tractors entered by the largest implement manufacturing company in the world.

As the time draws near for the big fair and exposition that is expected to bring more than 100,000 farmers from Harris and adjacent counties as well as visitors from virtually all of Texas, those in charge working day and night booking amusement features calculated to draw both gasps and laughs from the most chronic grouch. Thousands of square feet of canvas will cover what is believed to be the best aggregation of theatrical talent ever to be brought to Houston. The big hippodrome show, a duplication of the mammoth attraction that drew capacity houses in New York, has been booked for Houston's Fair and Exposition.

The latest in farm implements and time saving devices for farms and rural communities will be included in a special section devoted to machinery. An automobile show will have entries ranging from the proverbial Lizzie to the highest priced foreign machines that are seldom seen on streets of Texas cities.

Cars loaded with exhibits are already enroute to Houston, railroad agents report. Special rates for passengers is expected to bring 200,000 visitors here when the big fair and exposition opens. In order that all might know and take advantage of the opportunity to see Houston's first fair and exposition each of the seventeen railroads entering the city have ordered posters placed in every depot within a radius of 200 miles of the city advertising the coming attractions. Nearly two score bill posters are now touring Harris and adjacent counties putting up several tons of pictorial and descriptive posters, and the management of the fair and exposition are adopting the tactics of P. T. Barnum, renowned showman, who once said never overlook a bet but put posters on every fence, barn, shed and house within a radius of many miles of the show place.

"Although we have our fair grounds well filled at present we plan to make extensions so as to get several score more exhibits in," J. S. Berger, general manager of the association, said in extending invitations to farmers to list their prize stock and poultry, "we want more competitors for the $10,000 to be given in premiums."

Women and girls will also be represented. Special divisions have been devoted to sewing, household necessities, products of the barnyard and countless other articles produced through the efforts of the wives of the men on the farms who make eating possible for the city dweller. Valuable prizes are offered in this section," says Mrs. W. M. Baines, director.

Houston merchants have begun their preparations for the thousands who will come here from November 20th to 28th and are arranging their best wares for the inspection of those who do not visit a large city every day.

"We want every rural community within 200 miles of Houston to be represented at our fair and exposition," is the statement of I. P. Walker, president of the association. "The farmers can bring along their boys and the products the boys raised. We have special department for them also and are offering prizes that will make them happy for days to come."

Announcement was made last Friday by Rev. Key that the breaking of the land for the new Methodist church here would begin today. The architect and the contractor were both on the site.

LARGE BODY BLACK LAND

The last in Texas that can be bought at the old time "stock farming" prices. I am cutting up into small stock-farms my splendid 26,000 acre body of black land and dark loam land located on the S. A. U. & G. Railway south of San Antonio in the extreme north part of LaSalle and McMullen counties. Farms on this land produced this year from one-half to one bale of cotton per acre. But I am strictly advocating DIVERSIFICATION, that is cotton, corn, feed and stock, nothing in this wide world beats it. I want homeseekers and to the right men I will give them an opportunity to build a real family home on a foundation as safe as did the farmers of the Central Texas black land belt, and just as good land, at low prices and easy terms. Small cash payment and as long as 10 years at 6 per cent. Positively your last chance to get $100 land at less than one-third its real value. Investors can double their money. Will take in some good property as part payment. I am going to sell this splendid body of land out quickly and will sell in tracts of 160 acres up. Get in your order or come and see me at once. Remember no more land is being made. Still have a large number of those good farm tracts in Atascosa and Live Oak Counties for sale. Easy terms. 50 acres up. Write for printed matter.

THE women should certainly be thankful for the automobile. It has given them a chance to see a lot more of their husbands.

II

But it has done a great deal more than that.

It has brought people closer together, given them new interests, swept away old prejudices.

It's had its effect on the tire business.

When automobiles were new people were willing to buy any kind of a tire. Now they're beginning to insist on knowing what they are getting.

And the more they insist, the better it will be for us.

We want our customers to know what they are getting.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires—so there will be no doubt about it.

Whatever the size of your car, you know that the U. S. Tire you put on it is the best kind of tire its makers know how to make.

U. S. Tires are guaranteed for life, without any limitation of mileage.

That ought to mean something to the man who has thought about tires.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

AT THE AUDITORIUM

Last Wednesday afternoon the spacious parlors of the Auditorium Hotel was the scene of a pretty party when three dozen ladies gathered at the bidding of Mrs. L. A. Cottle to engage in a game of "42."

One parlor was decorated very elaborately in beautifully dressed kewpies hanging all around the walls, vases of Paul Neron roses on the tables and piano. The other parlor was like gold in Texas wild cosmos and marigold.

At high noon Jupiter Pluvius frowned upon the occasion. The clouds gathered and the patter of rain-drops caused many a maid and matron to scan the heavens with anxious eyes and think with sinking heart of the dainty gown and hat planned for the afternoon; but fate was kind. Old Sol leveled his shining arrows and put Jupiter Pluvius to flight, and the clouds gave way to light and sunshine.

The afternoon was glorious and the appointed hour found the parlors thronged with handsomely gowned women, whose happy voices and light hearted laughter made the scene a joyous one indeed.

Around eight white covered tables with a handpainted kewpie on each—the handiwork of Robert Young—the ladies gathered. Hand painted kewpie heads were passed and the game started.

In the first round Mrs. W. A. Gillon made the first "84", but at the close Miss Olive McGehee displayed highest number and was decorated with kewpie boys and girls, wee pacifiers, etc.

At the close of ten interesting games Miss Helen Flynn and Mrs. Hilry Stedman tied for high score. In the cut Miss Flynn won, but very graciously turned and presented the prize to the bride, Mrs. Hilry Stedman. The prize was a kewpie talcum powder holder dressed in net and silver.

Mrs. Cottle was assisted throughout the afternoon by Mrs. Fritz Farendorf, Misses Lottie Law, Jeff Lewis and Mary Lake Henderson. A delicious salad and ice course, consisting of chicken salad, fruit salad, sandwiches and iced grape juice. While the ladies were gathering the Ouija Board offered much merriment. It failed however, to disclose the facts most desired by the ladies—"Who burned the compress," and "Who will be the next president," and "Who will be the next governor."

At six o'clock the guests bade the hostess goodbye with merry expressions of thanks and good wishes, and will long remember the occasion for its many artistic triumphs and social joys.

FORTY-TWO CLUB.

Mrs. H. F. Smith Jr., was hostess to the 42 Club last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rush Thomas.

On entering the reception room, the clouds, rain, and darkness without were forgotten, for within we found ourselves in "spookland" indeed, which was beautiful and artistic in hangings of black cats, witches, grinning pumpkin heads, etc.

The shades were drawn down and a mellow light cast by lamps shaded in yellow shades with spooklore written on them thus: "Sposin the witches began to witch an' you didn't know which witch was which? Well, 'sposin'."

The other decorations were the most gorgeous displayed this season golden marigold and cosmos were used in the greatest profusion, and on the dining table was a huge yellow pumpkin used as a vase and filled with marigold.

Four tables were arranged and the little son, Hilliard Thomas, passed score cards in keeping with the decorations, with pumpkin heads, black cats and witches. With a view of the buffet in which beautiful "84" favors were displayed it was not long until the entire party seemed "bewitched" and a continual clapping of hands was heard and a number of 84 favors given, all of which came from "Spook Land." At the close Mrs. Dan Tyson of the guests held the highest number, and Mrs. John Mangum of the club members.

Table favors were placed on the tables and in the cut Mrs. Jno. Mangum got a suitcase filled with candy, Mrs. Albert Triggs, a trunk, Mrs. W. A. Gillon a powder box, and Mrs. C. A. Dunlap a dressed-up kewpie.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in serving a delicious salad course by Mrs. Thomas; consisting of chicken salad, potato chips, crackers, and ginger ale, plate favors of pumpkin head spooks.

Guests other than club members were Mrs. C. A. Dunlap, of Los Angeles, U. S. Hearrell, L. A. Cottle, Dan Tyson, Miss Rose Rischer.

CAMERON VISITOR.

All these beautiful "42" parties call to mind a true "42" joke every Texan will enjoy.

Miss Elizabeth was down from Milwaukee spending the winter in Texas, and she became very fond of Texas' most popular game, "42." When she returned she told a friend that those people down there had a most delightful game, but she could never understand it name—that they called it "Fortitude."

SYMPHONY CLUB.

Last Saturday afternoon the ladies of the music club entertained in open session at high school auditorium. A number of visitors were present and enjoyed a splendid program under the leadership of Miss Winnie Henderson.

The following program was rendered:

Duet, Calif. of Bagdad; Mrs. R. P. Jeter and Robert Smith.

Violin, Fantasie; Miss Olive Henderson.

Violin, Serenade D'Amour; Mr. Medsker.

Piano, Valse de Concert; Mrs. R. P. Jeter.

HISTORY CLUB.

The History Club had its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Denson. There was a good attendance. Minutes were read and the roll called. In answer different phases of the election were mentioned; some gave jokes, some cartoons, while others spoke more seriously. Mrs. W. C. Robins was leader. The program consisted of two splendid talks as follows:

Democratic and Republican Platforms, Miss Beth Jeter

League of Nations, Miss Winnie Henderson.

At the close Mrs. Denson served a delicious salad, wafers, olives and hot tea lunch.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Tucker.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Friday afternoon of last week the home of Mrs. Rush Thomas was again thronged with guests.

This time she, herself, was hostess to the Bridge lovers. On this occasion also the decorations and color scheme rerealed in the approach of Halloween. There were a few additions, one being the white robed ghosts, one on each corner of the three tables, standing stately and still, like sentinels keeping watch. After the games were in progress Mrs. Thomas disclosed the secret of the ghosts, and they were holders for salted nuts to be eaten during the game.

At the close of the games, table favors of Halloween lanterns fell to Mesdames John Watson, Giles Avriett and C. A. Dunlap, of Los Angeles. Mrs. H. F. Smith, Jr., assisted Mrs. Thomas in serving a delicious salad and ice course, consisting of pimento salad, fruit salad in orange cups, sandwiches and iced tea. Plate favors were red and yellow "devils."

Guests other than Club members were Mesdames C. O. Dunlap, S. A. Cottle, and Miss Belle Jeter.

BELTON BOYS COMPLIMENTED

The Cameron High School girls gave a party last Friday night to the Belton boys who came over for the game and also for the boys of Cameron High School.

Mrs. B. J. Baskin very generously offered her home and nearly one hundred gathered in a delightful social.

The decorations were red and white. The Belton High School colors. The principal diversion was a stroll party, riding in cars, and a general getting acquainted and closing with a treat of ice cream.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

In honor of her sister, Miss Jeff Lewis, Mrs. Giles Avriett entertained her immediate family at dinner Sunday. Halloween idea was carried out in the decorations and place cards, yellow and green and white. The centerpiece on the dining table was a large cut glass bowl of marigold and at the place of the honor guest was a beautiful Paul Neron rose. A delicious four course dinner was served.

The menu: Tomato bouillon, wafers, baked hen dressing, asparagus on toast, creamed potatoes, candied yams, peas, salad in apple cups, olives, pineapple cream, individual cakes; black coffee, cheese.

Those seated around this delightful home board were; Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Hearrell, Louise and Jack Hearrell, Dr. Elbra M. McGehee, Miss Jeff Lewis, Jack Lewis, and Mrs. Giles Avriette and two boys, Giles, Jr., and little Jack.

SOCIAL MEETING.

Despite the downpour of rain Monday afternoon a few of the ladies gathered at the Manse with Mrs. McFadyen and a very pleasant hour was spent discussing their work, laying plans for the future, etc. Mrs. McFadyen, assisted by her daughter, Jean, served pimiento sandwiches, hot chocolate capped with marshmallows.
